

Backyard Chickens Survey

PROJECT: Backyard Chickens

Let's Talk Halton Hills

Question options

🔵 Limehouse, ON, L0P1H0 🛛 😑 Georgetown, ON, L7G4S4 💦 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G4S5 🛛 🛑 Acton, ON, L7J2L8
🔵 Glen Williams, ON, L7G4S4 🛛 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2L7 🛛 🔵 Glen Williams, ON, L7G4S8 🛛 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J0B1
🔴 Acton, ON, L7J2T2 🛛 🛑 Georgetown, ON, L7G4S6 🛛 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J1Y9 🛛 😑 Georgetown, ON, L7G6L1
🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2W5 🛛 🛑 Georgetown, ON, L7G0K5 🛛 🔵 Norval, ON, L0P1K0 🛛 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G0B6
🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2E3 🛛 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2T1 🛛 😑 Georgetown, ON, L7G0H8 🛛 🛑 Georgetown, ON, L7G6J2
Georgetown, ON, L7G0G4
🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2R8 🛛 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2Z7 🛛 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G5H2 🛛 🥚 Georgetown, ON, L7G0B7
🔴 Acton, ON, L7J1W2 🛛 🛑 Acton, ON, L7J2Z8 🛛 🔵 Campbellville, ON, L0P1B0 🛛 😑 Georgetown, ON, L7G5T2
🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G5H8 🛛 🛑 Acton, ON, L7J2M1 💦 Georgetown, ON, L7G2S4 💦 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G5S6
🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G3N5 🛛 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2X9 🛛 🗧 Acton, ON, L7J3A4 🛛 🗧 Glen Williams, ON, L7G5G7
🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G5Y4 🛛 😑 Georgetown, ON, L7G6C5 💦 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G0B2 🛛 🛑 Acton, ON, L7J2Z2
🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2W3 🛛 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G6L4 🔹 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G6A5 👘 Georgetown, ON, L7G5Z9
🛑 Acton, ON, L7J2G3 🛛 🛑 Georgetown, ON, L7G4L3 💦 🔵 Acton, ON, L7J3A8 🛛 😑 Georgetown, ON, L7G5T9
Georgetown, ON, L7G2K4
🔵 Acton, ON, L7J2N2 🛛 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G4M3 🛛 🛑 Georgetown, ON, L7G4Z4 🛛 🛑 Georgetown, ON, L7G3P9
🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G6L8 🛛 🥚 Georgetown, ON, L7G5H9 📃 Georgetown, ON, L7G5Y2 🛛 🛑 Acton, ON, L7J2J1
🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G4L2 🛛 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G5G4 🔹 🔵 Georgetown, ON, L7G5A4 👘 Georgetown, ON, L7G5N1
🗕 Acton ON 1711NQ 🔎 Georgetown ON 176192 🔎 Acton ON 1711T2 🔷 Georgetown ON 1764N2
▲ 1/7 ▼

Q2 Do you think Halton Hills residents should be allowed to keep backyard chickens within the areas noted above?

Q4 Please specify:

Jennifer 3/09/2020 01:35 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:02 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:08 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:13 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:22 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:56 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:09 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:42 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:28 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 08:57 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:04 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:25 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 12:32 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:45 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:56 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:53 AM I am concerned about where my food comes from. I care about well-being of chickens and would like to have backyard chickens.

I don't know of any reason why they should be allowed in urban areas.

No chickens They are fowl and should be rural areas only BYLAW will get lots of calls regarding noose complaints, will attract vermin, foxes, coyotes and raccoons I said No

They shouldn't be allowed.

They help with keeping ticks under control

They should not be allowed!

Sustainable. Environmentally friendly. Helps people to learn how to grow and mai train their own food sources.

I do not support the leading nature of the question I don't support the idea of backyard chickens.

Should be kept to agricultural zones.

To control ticks in my yard

Stress release

People already don't take care of their yards and adding chickens and the smell will add to property standards complaints not to mention MORE RATS

Freedom

They shouldn't be allowed

I think it would be therapeutic for some people

There Is no need for backyard chickens. People will not care for the birds properly and people do not need to eat eggs.

Anonymous 3/10/2020 11:59 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:22 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:24 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:24 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:27 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:27 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:29 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:32 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:32 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:31 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:41 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:35 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:40 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:59 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:23 PM

Anonymous

SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED

Animal lovers

I do NOT think they should be permitted

Healthy eggs to eat without chemicals, teach kids how to care for an animal, bringing some country into the city for our kids

Chicken seems like nice pets. Might possible deter intruders or at least alert homeowners.

They should not be allowed

They Should NOT be allowed

They shouldn't be allowed

I think this is disgusting and a health hazard and if I live in a residential zone I should not have to deal with the sound, smell, and mess of farm animals in my subdivision.

Only if the property is of a certain size that won't bother their neighbours.

Only in yards larger than an acre, and not within 200 feet of a neighbor

Chickens are wonderful, affectionate pets and a very effective way to teach children (and adults) about important concepts surrounding the food web and the inter-relatedness between humans and other species. Control ticks, consume food scraps

Having food on your table without any chemical

Learning and understanding where food comes from and the work local do to provide it no reason, this shouldnt be allowed. this is a leading question!

Having backyard chickens would allow family to care for chickens as pets but also to help provide food for family in the form of eggs.

Available fresh food

3/10/2020 08:38 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:08 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:37 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 09:57 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:45 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:53 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 04:00 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 05:23 AM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 08:30 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 11:20 AN

Anonymous 3/13/2020 02:34 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 07:45 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 02:59 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 06:31 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 09:36 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 04:27 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 11:25 AM

Anonymous

See above, I do not think chickens should be allowed in the Urban areas.

Should not allow it.

It can also reduce some bugs in warm seasons

This question assumes I think it should be allowed - I don't. I object to this type of 'directing'

To be dissected

Should NOT be allowed

Chickens are incredibly friendly and intelligent pets that can make wonderful pets and long time friends.

Enjoyment and recreational purposes.

No way should they be allowed in residential neighbourhoods. Smell and noise being the primary reasons.

I don't see any reason not to have them.

They are just cute

Pest control, resilience to economic downturns, food sovereignty, connection and appreciation of where food comes from, promotes outdoor /active lifestyle, reduces need for intensive animal husbandry, reduces distance between food production and homes easy to look after and maintain a clean area as long as the coop/fenced area is maintained daily. Actual "free range" property areas require even less/minimal upkeep. Food security Environmentally Friendly Healthy lifestyle

A farm

Food security Pets with benefits-- they put themselves to bed at night, well before any noise restriction times, and a properly cared for coop does not smell.

The beauty of having a living thriving working pet that has the ability to

3/19/2020 05:15 PM

Anonymous 3/20/2020 09:24 AM

Anonymous 3/20/2020 04:40 PM

Anonymous 3/23/2020 02:35 PM

Anonymous 3/24/2020 09:08 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:15 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:42 AN

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:43 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:58 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 02:25 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 03:30 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:02 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:13 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 06:45 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 10:47 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 05:44 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:10 AN

Anonymous

provide you with eggs and comfort and a little bit of company.. 8

They are entertaining with varied personalities - watching their antics makes us happy. The eggs are delicious and nutritious. They are a good subject for a 4H club for urban children. I enjoy Banties and Silkies. :-)

They eat ticks, compost, provide eggs.

Chickens are noted for eating pesky insects and are more environmentally friendly than pesticides. They also naturally fertilize the lawn.

farms is where they're meant to be

No chickens in urban areas.

Most people will likely not take advantage of this, so the impact will be minimal and the benefits greatly outweigh any impact.

I don't think they should be allowed

Pest management Ecological goods and services

It should not be allowed, buy a farm if you want chickens, this will bring mice and disease to our neighbourhoods, this is a ridiculous idea

Not applicable

There is no purpose. It's not educational, economic nor sustainable. This question does not follow from #1.

I do not think they should be allowed at all.

Healthier

I would like to have control of my own food supply, chickens are nice birds for seniors, clucking is soothing. Kids should know where food comes from. If I had my own eggs, I wouldn't have to refrigerate them. They eat unwanted garden bugs so no pesticide.

They keep insects under control and can eat vegetable scraps from the kitchen

Good pets

3/27/2020 11:38 AM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 01:01 PM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 07:58 AM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 05:02 PM

Sheilajm 4/06/2020 09:03 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:16 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:18 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:08 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 10:42 PM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 10:03 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 09:02 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:58 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:17 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 01:09 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:54 PM

Anonymous 4/13/2020 08:26 AM

Anonymous 4/13/2020 12:08 PM Chickens make great pets.

Should not be allowed

Just as a joy to watch and to collect eggs now and then for breakfast

Back yards of a certain size should be considered for the noise factor. small back yards, no chickens. Large properties not problem.

No chickens. They belong in a rural setting. It's not clean.

Healthy eggs.

They shouldn't be allowed at all

No chickens

They provide a healthy food source, and make very good pets. They are much more quiet than most other pets, particularly dogs

Fresh egg alternative for community

Healthy supply of eggs and food

I think animal rearing is an important skill for hobbyists and farmers. I grew up on a hobby farm and would encourage everyone to rear animals properly and within reason.

I can't believe there is a survey about this. There chickens they lay eggs and it's on your own property. Maybe make a survey about the crappy roads in the above areas and get those fixed. Didn't think I moved to a communist community

Any reason is fine with me.

I don't think people should be allowed to keep Chickens because they don't know what it's actually like to keep them healthy.

The chicken coups will bring smells, rats, mice, coyotes that no neighbourhood would want.

Q5 Why do you think backyard chickens should not be allowed within the areas noted above? Please check all that apply.

Q6 Please specify:

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:52 AM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:09 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:33 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:56 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:08 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:13 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:31 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:42 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:53 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:32 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:37 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:02 PM

Tandem2 3/10/2020 08:50 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:19 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:53 AM

Anonymous

Run off water to other yards a big concern. Some yards will be filthy. We live on top of one another. Noise factor.

See further comments under #10. Halton Hills does not need this.

Folks won't provide the necessities for healthcare. To see a vet it starts at $100. Folks won't do it, and instead animal suffering will happen....because they're just a chicken. Coyotes

Not fair to the animals

Negatively impacts housing values. Sets bad precendent....what's next, goats? sheep? cows? If someone wants an agricultural lifestyle, there are areas already zoned to support it. Chickens laying eggs is bad for their health.

None, I think they should be allowed

All of the above. Who is going to regulate and inspect the setups?

If we're not allowed burn permits due to no access to backyards you should not be allowed chickens.

Smell

There are no services available to deal with the fecal matter generated by chickens

They are a problem only if owners to take of them properly.

They will escape

Allowing anyone to keep chickens increases the risk of cruelty. Chickens are not easy "pets" to keep. They have complex health needs that most people will be unaware of.

The birds will not receive the care they need. People will continue to look at them as disposable. What will happen when birds become ill?

Those getting them need to be educated as to how to keep them healthy

3/10/2020 11:29 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 11:59 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 12:09 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 01:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 02:03 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 02:05 PM

hayley.green 3/10/2020 03:20 PN

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:22 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:23 PN

o_JOHN_o 3/10/2020 03:30 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:52 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:31 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:32 PM

VIRUS

Smell, noise, unsanitary, etc...

Worried about people slaughtering them

I did not move into town to be near farm animals. the feed will attract mice and rats without question. These animals do not belong in residential areas. People who want chickens need to move away from neighborhoods. These rules were but in place for a reason in the first place Smell

Eggs have been proven to be unhealthy for starters and the town should not be encouraging people to eat in a way that is going to put a strain on our healthcare system. Beyond that, chickens should not be laying eggs at all as it puts a huge strain on their systems and is unnecessarily cruel to them the way it drains the calcium from their bodies. I don't think there is an issue

Could pose a danger to local wild predators (weasel, fox, coyote, hawks, etc); ie. owners might take steps to eradicate them if/when their chickens are predated - which is inevitable if they are not secured properly. Viruses, example Bird Flu! Living with birds caused this to happen!

All of the above. If I wanted to live in a farm I would choose to do so. I don't want coyotes coming into my yard where my children play, I don't want to smell or hear animals in my yard. I don't want the diseases that come with wild animals living among humans. Gross.

There are so few households in our neighbourhood who would take the opportunity to raise chickens and realize what a big commitment that would be. We also have a rather large population of foxes in the neighbourhood. Chickens are not noisy but can be dirty if not tended to regularly. Raising chickens cannot be a cute project for children. Smell and value of property decreases

I don't see a negative at this time.

Smell. If not properly maintained, chicken poop stinks and will definitely be smelled by neighbours or pedestrians walking by.

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:31 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:59 PM

mattbg 3/10/2020 08:15 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:47 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 10:49 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:08 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:37 AM

LSH22 3/11/2020 10:16 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:45 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:53 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:36 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 02:36 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 04:00 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 04:54 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 09:17 AM Roosters noise. However, roosters are less noisy than neighbours' cars, trucks, lawnmowers, leaf blowers, and barking dogs, not to mention aircraft going to/from Pearson seriously... the stink, the mistreatment from people who dont know how to farm... the risk to our food system... health risks from avian flus in populated areas Odours

Not in the more urban areas of Georgetown or Acton

They can have chickens

Animal cruelty

You can purchase all associated chicken products in any grocery store.

Residents would have no control if neighbor decided to have chickens.

My only concern is that people often start these projects and then lose interest - and there needs to be a welfare check for the chickens as well as the humans. There are 'back yard chicken' rental options which I believe all interested people should have to go through first, and they should then be certified before committing to this to ensure they know how to care and can afford appropriate housing and vet care. PS: I am vegetarian, so at a minimum I hope the animals are not being raised for slaughter. Lazy people who won't take care of their chickens and their property will have a negative effect on surrounding property values

They loud

This sets up for more animal cruelty and suffering due to lack.of experience, knowledge, sanitary conditions

None

Large potential for animal abuse by inexperienced owners and/or their neighbours.

I don't think the average person knows how to take care of chickens or knows the first thing about taking care of a chicken coop. This would cause problems for neighbours and frankly, the chickens. Besides all of the above, smell. We've had chickens on a country acreage and are aware of all of the above. You can keep it as clean as possible and

Anonymous 3/12/2020 07:34 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 12:30 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 06:28 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 10:32 AM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 10:42 AN

Anonymous 3/14/2020 03:56 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 04:27 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 02:22 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 07:59 PM

Anonymous 3/17/2020 12:17 PM

Anonymous 3/17/2020 06:26 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 11:25 AN

Anonymous 3/19/2020 07:28 AM

Anonymous 3/21/2020 01:33 PM

Anonymous

still attract animals. People complain about coyotes and foxes coming into town. Guess what, now you are attracting them. Skunks love eggs. I had chickens when I was young and the smell of chicken waste is not easy to cover up and not everyone who has chickens will clean up after them daily. If they are allowed, they must be kept in a fenced area and should not be wandering around aimlessly on a property (not onto other people's yards or the road). Roosters should not be allowed as their crowing is quite annoying and you can't quiet them down. Chickens are quieter for the most part. Give in inch, they take a mile. Next will be backyard pigs, etc. You want a farm, move to one.

Our yards are too small to sustain chickens- there are enough rabbits and skunks- we don't need to add any other animals to the mix. I have no problem with chickens in larger yards (one acre plus). Disease and viruses that would normally be associated within an agricultural environment that is normally maintained and professionaly controlled.

Disease associated with farm animals.

Smell

We had neighbors who had them in town acton. Chickens bring rats! And that's what we had!

People dont respect neighborhoods with cats and dogs. Chickens will be worse. I have a problem with people eing disrespectful with growing marijuana in our neighbourhood. That smell is atrocious. Chicken coups will be just as bad. I some of the areas listed would work but not in town on 40-50ft lots.

I live in a residential area; it is quiet and want to keep it that way. We are also near Hungry Hollow and the keeping of chickens may encourage the wildlife to be around and more aggressive.

Allergic to feathers. Attracts coyotes. Affects my property resale value if neighbours have chickens

No reason, just a couple of chickens aren't as loud as people seem to think.

Overly restrictive government enforcing antiquated policy controlling neighbours infringing on property rights https://www.cdc.gov/flu/pdf/avianflu/avian-flu-transmission.pdf Web siste link from Center of Disease control: How Infected Backyard Poultry could spread bird flu to people. Don't we have enough to deal with Coronoavirus? I don't believe that there is a good reason not to allow backyard chickens.

By restricting backyard chickens to laying hens only the noise would be

3/24/2020 09:08 PM

Anonymous 3/25/2020 12:35 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 10:59 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:26 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:32 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 03:56 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:27 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:59 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:02 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:06 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:13 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:49 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:59 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:24 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:47 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:10 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 09:41 AM

Anonymous

eliminated. It's the roosters who make all the noise.

Chicken excrement has a very strong odour, kills grass and plants and can carry e-coli. Chicken dander can travel quite far and affect peoples health.

They smell. The fact that they are always outside attract wildlife like foxes, coyotes, skunks, raccoons even more than now. Rats and mice will also come for the feed. Our domestic animals may be in harms way too then Smell.

Increase contact between human and birds...increased probability of avian flu. We're already going through a pandemic, why invite another virus?

None

If lot size is too small to house a co-op and run. Up

Exploitation is never ok. There is nothing ethical about backyard chickens. We need to discontinue the use of animals for pleasure. There is enough evidence that shows how unhealthy animal products are for humans. It's time to evolve.

The smell and noise

We should not condone as a community, exploiting animals for their eggs.

All of the above.

Who will watch to make sure these animals are taken care of and not abused/neglected?

People discard them after discovering the difficulties of slaughtering their own meat

Most people don't know how to properly care for chickens, this will lead to yet another species being poorly treated.

Trust issues with people taking care of them and the chickens safety Q

Welfare of the chickens. If people get chickens the premises should be inspected. Only a limited number of chickens per yard

I think they should be allowed

We don't need chickens for anything.

3/27/2020 02:58 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 04:39 PM

Anonymous

3/27/2020 05:37 PM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 01:01 PM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 03:28 PM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 06:07 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:18 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:56 AN

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:17 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:19 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 01:33 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 05:08 PM Using animals is no longer acceptable. It's cruel and unnecessary to take any living creature's freedom away. Besides, this will cause diseases by those in it just to make money and have no real clue what they're doing or what is involved. Plant crops for extra income, no one suffers. Backyard chickens only ever leads to problems for chickens and humans alike. As a sanctuary operator, I am constantly inundated with emails from people begging me to take their unwanted chickens and roosters either because they stop laying and are no longer "useful" to the family or because they bought unsexed birds and have an "illegal" rooster. Additionally, with OVC in Guelph being the only avian specialist available it is almost guaranteed that the birds receive no vet care and suffer immensely as a result.

Roosters should not be allowed, as they are too noisy.

Roosters s/b disallowed. What will people do with chickens in the winter, or when they stop laying eggs?

I think people should be allowed chickens as long as they follow proper disposal of waste. No rooters due to noise, but hens can be a sustainable source of eggs and should absolutely be allowed.

If they are treated respectfully like other pets and taken care of, then there is no issues.

No issues with chickens in backyards in other cities. Lots of municipalities already allow this. Obviously there is no major concern.

The majority of people are not properly skilled to care for/clean up after chickens. Nor do they have time. Intentions may be good, but once the novelty wears off, there will be many consequences such as unsafe disposal, unhealthy conditions for humans and chickens, etc. Who will monitor backyard conditions? Who pays for the checks? Sounds like unnecessary costs to tax payers. None

I don't think there is any reason to NOT have chickens

I think it's a fine idea to be able to raise a few backyard chickens but it is important that people know how to raise them and how to meet their nutritional, behavioural and environmental needs. I encourage the Town of Halton Hills to reach out to OMAFRA for information on how to raise backyard flocks. If the Town is going to allow it, the Town should provide resources to their residents on the town's website on how to raise them properly (meet nutritional and environmental needs, prevent disease and prevent predators from accessing them). Chickens can attract coyotes, Anonymous 4/08/2020 09:31 PM	ferrets, rats, mink, hawks, owls and many other predators if they have inadequate housing. Also, roosters should not be allowed to avoid nuisance noise complaints. Smell?

Anonymous 4/08/2020 09:56 PM	I am terrified of any kind of bird. If one of those things come at me, it won't live long and I won't feel bad at all.
Anonymous 4/09/2020 05:27 PM	Allergies. Stench.
Anonymous 4/09/2020 08:48 PM	Our current neighbours have two large dogs and don't pick up after them. The yard is disgusting. They are big into flower pot gardening. I'm certain if chickens were allowed they would convert their mouse infested shed into a coup. One more reason for me To want to move out of Georgetown
Anonymous 4/09/2020 10:42 PM	People cannot clean up after their dogs, have you seem the dog poop along the trails and boulevards? Chickens are for farms, not Georgetown neighborhoods. This is not going to make good neighbours. And will decrease property values. Our backyards are not big enough.

Q7 If guidelines are written to allow backyard chickens in the areas noted above, what considerations do you think are important? Please rank the following restrictions/considerations, in order of importance 1 (highest) to 8 (lowest).

OPTIONS	AVG. RANK
Cleanliness standards	3.16
Hens only – no roosters	3.64
Size of coops and run area	4.16
Lot size	4.32
Minimum distance and visibility from other houses	4.68
Location of where chickens are contained within the yard area	4.75
Permission from immediate and/or abutting neighbours	5.29
Prohibition of commercial sale of eggs and chickens	5.49

Q8 Should people wishing to keep backyard chickens have to apply for a special permit or license so that the conditions can be monitored through the Town's By-law Enforcement Services?

Q9 What is the maximum number of chickens that should be allowed per property?

Question options

• 0 • 1 - 3 • 4 - 6 • 7 - 10

Q10 Have you ever kept backyard chickens or known anyone in an urban area that has kept chickens for the purpose of urban farming?

Q11 Please describe your/their experience with urban backyard chickens

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:23 AM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:32 AN

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:33 AM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:35 AM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 12:06 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 12:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:32 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:33 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:40 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:10 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:51 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:51 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:54 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:56 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:57 PM A lot of work and you need to be very knowledgeable Neighbours in Toronto did this. Rats were everywhere. You cannot control the rat population when you have chicken feed all over the ground.

Henny and Penny were their names and they became part of the family. They were only there for the spring and summer and early fall months, they had a lovely little cage in a fenced yard - and were allowed to roam free in the backyard under supervision. After, they went to live on my in-law's farm. I have a family member with chicken and they give the chickens all their food waste.

Coyotes would often get into their yard and eat them. Their yard was fenced, but abutted a large natural/forested area.

I grew up on a little farm. It's a wonderful thing to see where your food comes from. Children and adults alike can benefit from owning and caring for animals. And you cant beat fresh eggs!

Know of people with illegal hens. No problems, have bigger problems from barking dogs or cats attacking wildlife.

They are magnets for vermin. They can get and carry diseases easily from migrating birds and other wildlife. Avian Bird Flu pandemics are real! Animal farming is heavily resource dependent and we should be promoting vegetable gardens and not animal husbandry.

Friends keep 4 hens which are a wonderful addition to their life. The hens are quiet, provide enrichment for their children (and the neighborhood children) and they are blessed with a bounty of eggs that are far superior in taste and nutritional profile than those purchased in store.

I think it's great for kids learning , great for people to have experience to know where their food comes from. Some may consider as pets and should be able to. As long as they are well taken care of I don't see it being a problem.

lovely to be able to provide a nice living environment for chickens. They provide the eggs, homeowners provide the space, mutually beneficial!

smelly, dirty and noisy

Always have breakfast

Stink rodents coyotes noise regret

Chickens eat many of the insect pests that caused many problems. If kept correctly, chickens can provide a family with much needed eggs and meat. It

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:43 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:52 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:55 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:09 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:43 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:46 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:59 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:13 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:17 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:18 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:21 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:22 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:25 PM doesn't cause half the problem is that the boomers say they do. They provide this family with numerous eggs daily. They have NEVER had a complaint lodged against them - in fact their neighbors (that run an AirBnB) encourage their renters to visit the chickens and are very supportive. Like most animals, when they become expensive or a nuisance, most owners don't want them anymore and it creates a bunch of problems which were completely avoidable in the first place. I live in a farm and own chickens.

Friends in Mississauga have quails . small/quiet and serves the owners purpose.

My sister actually had the by law changed in Okotoks alberta to allow chickens. She has 3 hens and loves it! She has school groups come to her backyard to learn about sustainable living and her hens. She lives in a typical urban subdivision. Clean. Quieter than dogs by far. And you get your own eggs!

A friend had some in Kitchener until neighbours complained and then they had to get rid of them. I happen to agree with the neighbours.

Roosters should not be allowed. Max 3 chickens as it can help ensure cleanliness standards are met.

Great experience. Allowed the kids to learn about caring for animals and also more about sustainable food choices. Provided protein for family and friends from happy and healthy animals.

The educational opportunity was phenomenal. The benefit of eggs and meat was a bonus that helped offset rising costs of living.

I have own 3 chickens in my urban backyard at my previous house. It provided an opportunity for my children to learn about where there food comes from and the responsibility it takes to care for them. they loved thwm

I have raised chickens while living in other city's as well as while living in the country. Chickens I find are a joy to watch and also help keep bug populations down. Chickens that are kept in groups of 4 and up are the most happy. Chickens should have at least 4-5 sqft per bird minimum for a regular sized laying hen.

Found to be educational, reduce ticks/yard pests, and economical

It would be a great resource/educational tool. It makes sense economically

There needs to be regulations just like having a dog or a cat. Any owner can be great or terrible no matter the animal. Guidelines should be set and followed

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:33 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:36 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:42 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:51 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:53 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:56 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:00 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:09 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:17 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:31 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:37 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:42 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:48 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:04 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:11 PM I grew up on a farm and in later years my parents and grandparents had chickens on >acre are of land. In smaller areas they bring in coyotes, foxes, wild dogs etc. Further if you've never smelled unkept chickens... the smell is unbearable.

They were very very stinky and dirty . They were loud .

Very good and fun for children

They were kept in the backyard in their coops and had the run of the yard. They were kept clean but they did get eaten by local fox.

Kept 20 to 30 chickens in a large courtyard. It was an enjoyable experience. Particularly the fresh eggs and the entertainment value

They were unable to care for them properly and had to forfeit the chickens.

Bothersome to other Neighbours with noise and smell. Attracted wildlife which posed a threat to domesticated animals.

Have friends that have kept them in their yards both in BC and Quebec. Wonderful experience for families.

Very noisy, had neighbors dogs barking day and night, my husband works nights and couldn't open windows in summer due to noise

Very well kept.

Our daughter's next door neighbour in Bolton has them (it's allowed there) and it's been a great way for them to share fresh eggs with the neighbours so that all the neighbours actually benefit from this community-enhancing activity.

The area became unsanitary and eventually attracted vermin. The stench became horrible down wind.

Started as school learning opportunities for students and brought home to be part of family

They live in Guelph (right downtown) and had 4-5 hens. They got them through a program where the birds were returned for the winter to a farm so that they did not have to winterized the coop. It was an ideal set up. Fresh eggs, great educational experience for their kids, easy to take care of. Their Chickens Are Very Helpful With Eggs And Create Breakfast Every Morning.They Are Not too loud and have big place to live in.The only bad thing is that they need cleaning every 2 days.

Clean, quiet and fun experience that provided fresh eggs for the family

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:36 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:37 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:43 PN

Anonymous 3/09/2020 08:24 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:04 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:25 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:32 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:44 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 10:30 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 10:35 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:31 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:32 AM

Anonymous

3/10/2020 06:44 AM

Our neighbours had two hens for a long time but they eventually passed away, I enjoyed seeing them daily and would sometimes receive eggs if they had extra. It was great, the hens made little to no noise and I really want to start caring for my own hens.

Pleasure to deal with. A wonderful learning tool for young children and adults who care about nature. Its very forgiving "growing" your own eggs. It's so much better for you and your family.

There was four at one time they slowly passed away and there now missed

Due to rising food costs I think this would be a great way to help many of us a little. As well as teaching the next generation how to take care of animals and understand where their food comes from.

Easier to care for than I had expected - about as much maintenance as any small pet.

No issues, fences need to be secure, set back from neighbours, no roosters, no licences but a registry.

They're a LOT of work. People don't realize what goes in to taking care of them at ALL times if the year. The smell that would bother the neighbours from the neglect that would inevitably happen would cause complaints. Adding more work to bylaw is unnecessary- no chickens are needed in backyards Positive! Very sustainable, zero-limited noise (way less than the average dog or children), no smell when cleaned appropriately.

They had a small coop of 6 Chickens and it was well kept and chickens were well looked after. Great experience but run into small problems with too many eggs for one household to use

Excellent learning opportunities for raising and caring for animals that serve an agricultural purpose

It was great

They loved it. Their kids not only enjoyed the experience, but also learned a great deal about sustainability, responsibility and animal husbandry

It was horrible, they did not look after the animals. They did not clean up after them and let them run wild-across to our yard. We had foxes raid their so called pen a number of time which alerted our dog to bark and bark all hours of the night. In the summer the stench was unbelievable. When the foxes got at the chickens they just threw the carcasses in the back yard-nice! Then they got a rooster-crowed at 4am everyday. Then they got ducks-it was a disaster until I had to call the town.

She is educated on the matter and knows how to look after them. No interest or belief in selling meat which is important and where I think sanitary and animal welfare issues crop up. She looks after her hens and ensures they're

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:27 AN

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:28 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:19 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 12:15 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 02:52 PN

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:29 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:11 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:20 PM

gtownstreets 3/10/2020 04:30 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:30 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:31 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:32 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:31 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:32 PM

Lynn

well fed and cared for.

The chickens were kept to supply eggs and to educate children.

Great Source of organic eggs, hobby, envolve and educate children on sustainable lifestyle.

My best friend had chickens and roosters. She lost many to wildlife predators despite what she thought was a secure area. She also lost some to horrible infections and was injured herself by a rooster. Great education for the kids entered chickens into the fair and great eggs

To noise

Have a friend who raises small flock >5 in a rural area; it is actually quite an expensive hobby when correct feed, proper shelter, etc. is taken into account.

It was fabulous! They were able to have access to healthy food.

While living in Richmond Hill, my immediate neighbour had chickens. It was messy, noisy, attracts mice, rats and other vermin, not a pleasant situation at all.

good at keeping bugs in check at tremendous cost of smell and waste and noise all of which intrude on neighbours' rights to quiet enjoyment of their properties

It's a good idea if there are no roosters.

Positive

no problems to report

Chickens eat bugs such as ticks, the poop can be used for growing Mushrooms as well.

My sister has them, but lives in a urban/rural area. Her neighbours are close, but they have a big lot and they are in the back corner. They are noisy because of the roosters, but without roosters, the chickens wouldn't be sustainable.

It didn't last long. Complaints from neighbors as well as problems with raccoons and cats. Quit after about 4 months

They became glorified pets and were constantly being predated upon by foxes and raccoons. It was also a smelly eyesore.

Very enjoyable to watch.

3/10/2020 05:38 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:41 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:07 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:35 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:40 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:13 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:35 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:41 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:27 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:38 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:44 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 10:24 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 11:49 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 11:53 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:17 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 10:34 AM

Anonymous

highly satisfying to provide a home for and interact with these beautiful creatures

I believe it's a good thing as long as there are rules and regulations and are strictly enforce. however can be a big issue if left unchecked.

Very good, eggs during late spring, summer and early fall and chickens in the freezer for winter

Absolutely loved it. They are in Brampton and never had an issue

It was a very positive experience

Non commercial operations are straight forward.

Maintaining a small flock is easy. It shows people where their food comes from.

The chickens help reduce family organic waste, as vegetable scraps can be part of chickens healthy diet. Chicken can help control insects in home gardens.

I live in a rural area and keep chickens. I know several others also but noone in an urban area who does

I had 7 chickens for fresh eggs for family and friends. Had the coop and chicken for 3 years until I moved. Loved having them.

I have a good friend who has chickens. They are especially responsible.

They were no bother

Nice to see them roam free but not the roosters crowing.

Friend has them. They attract coyotes skunks rats mice opossum stink beyond belief

I loved to visit my uncle who had backyard chickens

They had to manage the chicken poop by composting otherwise it can get stinky fast (hence inspections and regulations should apply). They are also escape artists so chicken runs should be secure (again; inspections and regulations).

My husband grew up in acton as did I My husband lived on a farm with

3/11/2020 10:44 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:20 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:54 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:06 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:20 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 01:03 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 02:16 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 04:00 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 04:50 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 10:51 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 08:30 AM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 10:11 AM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 11:30 AM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 01:34 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 07:34 PM chickens and pigs I also worked in a self sustaining community and part of my work was caring for the chickens and ducks I loved it and the eggs are just the best from small coups and loving farmers Enforcement of bylaw would be a must

They are cool(fire mr. chaisson and ms. Killbride) good

My old geo teacher

They where fine and didn't disturb anyone also had great eggs , and we learned a lot from them , yes we had them in school teacher brought them in

Fresh eggs

Improper winter shelter, always sick, not enough space, noise, smell.

Nice.

They get named and become pets

My neighbour had 3 chickens and they were very cute and quiet. They foraged in his yard and their eggs were delicious. His kids learned to take care of them.

People are generally irresponsible and don't give a damn about their neighbours. Chicken coops and their related areas can become unsanitary very quickly. Chicken poop even in small quantities smells! People don't even pick up after their dogs, but you're going allow them to have livestock in residential areas? Bad idea. Also, all of the wildlife that we are crowding out (coyotes, foxes, etc.) are going to enjoy these chickens as easy meals. Do we need to be putting out bait for the wildlife and then complain when the chickens get eaten?

A friend lived on a farm in Glen Williams that had been farming chickens since before the bylaws. I assume it was grandfathered, since it was widely known and advertised that they had chickens and sold eggs. I had a neighbour that used to have chickens. They never bothered anyone, you get used to the rooster crow and having fresh eggs is amazing.

Chickens escaped regularly or were killed by neighbour's animals. Waste complaints were a regular occurrence due to smell. Eggs were good and chickens don't require a lot of care but when they are sick there needs to be a protocol for how to dispose of a dead chicken (as this will happen from

Anonymous 3/12/2020 08:56 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 09:09 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 07:55 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 09:36 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 09:54 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 10:03 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 12:12 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 01:57 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 03:23 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 05:47 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 07:20 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 09:31 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 10:42 AN

Anonymous 3/14/2020 01:54 PM

Anonymous

unexpected illness or other chickens pecking another hen). It works well if the yard where the chickens are is large and doesn't sit against another person's property. (I.e. the chickens are located 6 feet from a fence line - otherwise the person owning the chickens is a distance away from the coop but a neighbour has them practically in their backyard). People who had them liked the fresh eggs, others who were near the chicken yard where not impressed. Needs lots of care , needs proper hen house, needs care around the clock, needs a pretty large area separate from rest of the house and not visible from street. Need a plan for the winter season.

Great source of fresh food. Good educational tool for kids. Entirely positive. Not a single negative. Done routinely in many countries in the world with zero issues.

Positive experience. Has provided an educational opportunity for children and neighbours alike. Teaches responsibility. No issues with vermin. Foxes and coytoes already co-habited within the community. A well maintained structure keep them out. None

As part of a summer rental for 10 years. I wonderful experience. Fresh eggs. Children learn. Always something I wanted to continue if allowed in Georgetown.

When I was young it was common to keep chickens. There were no problems.

My neighbours have them and they are so noisy. Plus they often escape and then we have to deal with them in our yard.

It was in England and it was wonderful having fresh eggs.

The smell was awful, they attracted foxes and more raccoons, cyotes etc. The rooster was noisy.

Raised chickens for several years. Self sustaining lifestyle is rewarding.

Attracted vermines (rats)

Positive

Like any animal they have to be maintained or there will be problems. Dogs will bark non stop unless they are trained or properly care for. Hens will smell if they are not properly maintained.

Friend has backyard chickens living in town, and has clean well kept coop and fresh eggs daily, zero issues with her neighbours

Useful to have some workshops to help people get started in a good way.

Neighbour relations are critical, prior notice of intent and opportunity to don't charge a large fee for the permit. Permit should really be limited to registering on a list, agreeing to inspections, and being conditional on attending workshop or reading materials. Anonymous chickens... Anonymous Only roosters disturb neighbours. If kept clean and maintained, there are no 3/14/2020 03:41 PM odours. Great source of fresh, high quality and sustainable food. Great role in preventing animal abuse / negligence. I previously lived in the Milton/Peru Rd area for a # of years. Bought a few Anonymous 3/14/2020 06:31 PM to lay pullets. The were kept in a small separate coop and allowed to free

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/15/2020 03:49 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/15/2020 05:04 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 10:22 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 04:45 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 05:08 PM comment (but not veto), dispute resolution mechanism in the permit Please

I grew up in a rural area and we always had a chicken coop with about 16-30 experience for kids. Should the practice be allowed and hence keeping hens becomes more common, permitting and inspections can play an important chicks from the local Co-Op and went from there. Eventually ordering ready range during the day. I had at the most 8 hens, producing 1 egg per day. Eggs were eaten at home and freely given to friends, neighbors, business associates,etc. They were always welcomed and eagerly anticipated. Freys Hatchery in the St Jacobs area is a wealth of knowledge.

We had 2-4 chickens (hens) for several years in England. We were based in a residential township area with small backyards and condensed housing. There were a couple of other other households in the area who also had a few chickens. We never experienced any issues or complaints (the opposite actually as the neighbors received eggs as well as us). Good husbandry when exercised ensures there is no smell, attraction of vermin or other serious issues. The chickens produced natural fertilizer, were great gardeners and were great at pest control. We learned a lot about the chicken social structure. Note that we only had hens, no roosters. Roosters would not be appropriate in the township area of Georgetown or other urban areas due to the certainty of noise pollution.

They usually lay two eggs a day. And they are nice to snuggle. They also eat pesky bugs in your yard and garden.

Chicken s bring rats , nasty !

Amazing! I've grown up with grandparents who always kept chicken. My parents do too. Recently I met a family keeping hens in Ferguson, ON. People loved it. No issues at all, only benefits. Nothing better than a real fresh egg, with an orange egg yoke!

My experience is limited. My in-laws in Nova Scotia have backyard chickens and a rooster. I would recommend NO roosters. Very noisy and not overly friendly.

Positive, Due to the increasing cost of daily living it helps subsidies the food intake of a family home.

3 chickens, small coop, portable run, lots of eggs, kept pests down in garden

Anonymous 3/16/2020 05:08 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 07:00 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 07:11 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/18/2020 06:16 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 06:49 PM

Anonymous 3/19/2020 05:15 PM

Anonymous 3/20/2020 06:32 AM

Anonymous 3/20/2020 09:24 AM we have had no problems with neighbors who have chickens, they have been well looked after

They are very good

When I lived in another township, My old landlord kept chickens in the backyard of the house he owned (I rented the basement apartment). It was great having fresh eggs all the time. With just hens - no roosters - the noise was very minimal. Lot was about 45' x 120'. So enough room to build a small coop for 4 hens with a small outdoor run. Properly maintained and kept away from property lines meant no bad smells or noises to disrupt the neighbours from the enjoyment of their own property.

An amazing compliment to life. Crazy at times, with potential for disease and predators, but that piece can be figured out (disease: with treatment, culling/returning to source/sending them to a rural farm, predators: with increasing measures-- predators are already around. It's our job as chicken keepers to ensure they don't have any reason to stay and are not rewarded.) Like anything. You have good owners and bad owners. I would have no problem with neighbors having a few chickens however they have to be responsible No problems

My Grandparents owned a farm

If the house has a spacious yard residents should be allowed to raise a few chickens.

Our son lives next door on a rural property and has had 5 laying hens for almost 2 years. They are in a movable enclosed small 2 storey coop that is on wheels and spent this winter comfortably in it with a heated water bowl. Their exercise area was protected from wind using poly sheets stapled to the wire fencing and they were out everyday. They lay 4-5 eggs daily which right now is a very good source of protein as we face the restrictions of covid19. What our 2 households can't use, our neighbor takes and makes donations that cover the cost of feed. They provide lots of opportunity for education and entertainment - interesting personalities, quirky habits (won't walk on fresh snow, etc.), quick learners (only strayed onto the road once and then never again), great 4H Club creatures (saw the Chicken club graduation at Erin Fair), etc. When allowed out of the coop they always go back by themselves in late afternoon before dusk. They love to forage and need dirt baths that keeps them happy and laying. They do turn into rototillers with feathers in off limit areas like special flower beds if left out without keeping an eye on them. They do need regular pen cleaning by their keeper. The first winter they were in a wooden shed. Critters (1 skunk, a rat and ??) chewed their way in and stole eggs . This winter that didn't happen with the new movable coop which

Anonymous 3/22/2020 08:39 PM

Anonymous 3/22/2020 11:15 PM

Anonymous 3/23/2020 02:35 PM

Anonymous 3/24/2020 08:56 PM

Anonymous 3/24/2020 09:30 PM

Anonymous 3/25/2020 12:54 PM

Adriantrangmar

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:12 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:26 AN

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:52 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:57 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:58 AM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:07 PM has a ramp up to a loft. Pleasant experience

They take care of and maintain the chickens. Its clean quiet and no smell. We live at the corner and have had no complaints (nor have any ourselves)) regarding noise, vermin or other. It is logical and economic.

My sister lives in the town of Grimsby, her chickens do not bother her neighbors because they are very quiet. The neighbor hood kids love coming over collecting eggs and feeding them apples off the trees. They eat the compost and lessen the landfill waste.

Our neighbors had chickens, and we helped care for them when the neighbors went on vacation. There were never any issues with the chickens roaming the yard and next-door field, although I think they lost a couple to coyotes.

Positive experience for the whole family

They are a sustainable source of food. Hens are relatively quiet when compared to birds in the wild. Maintaining them is pretty simple and many breeds are hardy and winter ready. There are many guides online on raising them. Each chicken would lay one egg and they taste better than most of the store bought ones. The kids also love picking eggs and feeding them. I don't see the difference between chickens and having exotic birds when it comes to care. I would recommend anyone who eats eggs to own at least 4. Since hens mature at different times, a family of 4 may need 8 or more hens for at least 4 eggs a days. Based on consumption, my family would need at 7-10 minimum.

Easy to maintain/look after. Excellent for kids to learn about food, animals and sustainability.

Wonderful! Fresh eggs, great experience for children to learn empathy, animal care and sustainability

Know nothing about their experiences other than that they had

They enjoyed it! But this was not local. The eggs are so good and Fresh!

No issues with neighbours having chickens in another city. But they had a rooster which would cockadoodledoo every morning. I didn't mind, but i think many people would find that annoying. It was nice to have an easy source of fresh eggs.

There were lots of wildlife coming into the yard, they lost a pet because of it. The neighbours complained about the smell and noise. They chickens were always getting out and into the neighbours yards ripping up gardens etc Dirty smelly noisy. Too close to neighbours and inconsiderate of neighbours therefore I don't think it should be allowed on less than 1 acre lots.

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:40 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:53 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:54 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 02:25 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 02:37 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 03:56 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:11 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:27 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:48 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:02 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:06 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:13 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 06:08 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 10:05 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 10:47 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:24 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:30 AM Find they keep the invasive and disease carrying bugs down to A minimum. Ticks, mosquito larvae etc. Neighbors enjoyed them and they didn't bother anyone.

Wonderful and refreshing

Absolutely disgusting, on a street in Brampton where there were previously no mice or rats.. sure enough suddenly noticed little tracks in winter months. This should not be permitted.

Easy to keep clwan and contained. they provided education to my chikdren along with healthy and sustainable protein options. Very easy to care for and keep 4 chickens owned by 2 parents, 2 kids. Chickens very tame, and provided eggs for family. Kids took care of feeding and cleaning.

There was never any problems with people having chickens.

Noise smell

Plenty of fresh eggs, enjoyment and responsibility, education for children

Loved having chickens in the back yard. They're very entertaining.

At a previous residence a neighbor had chickens, they smelled and were noisy. Not fair to neighbors and not fair to the chickens.

Chickens are prone to predatory animals. Chickens should be eating their own eggs in order to restore the depleted nutrients from laying. Humans should not be taking from them, what is not ours. Unsustainable draw on resources especially water and electricity.

They've become a great experience for the kids, as they have been given responsibility to care for the chicken. Not to mention sustainable farming to produce their own eggs for consumption.

Kids learn a lot about chickens watching them and being around them but please no roosters.

No issues. Chickens are awesome

It wasn't pleasant at all for neighbors or people driving by the house. It wasn't uncommon for the chickens to be loose and unattended, walking into the road at times.

Positive addition to the family and encouraged sustainable self sufficiency

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:47 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 01:30 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 06:06 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 07:44 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 07:53 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:10 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:22 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:34 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 10:00 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 10:02 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 10:19 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 10:43 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 11:32 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:49 PN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 05:37 PM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 01:01 PM fantastic! yummy healthy eggs

Small coops are fabulous and helps with lessons for children Adds fresh eggs into the household

We kept 4 hens for purposes of fresh eggs and lived in an urban area. As long as the coop and run are kept clean and the chickens are healthy then it is a wonderful experience to have.

We had chickens growing up in a rural setting. Both egg laying and broilers

I had 10 chickens on an acre of land. they ate all the veggie scraps from the kitchen and kept the mosquitoes and insects under control. The only noise was at egg laying time. I had wonderful golden yolks eggs from the hens. Their leavings were raked up and used to fertilize my vegetable garden. I loved having chickens and would definately recommend it if you have the space and time.

Not sanitary or humane. Attracts wildlife such as coyotes etc.

It was both educational and was great to have fresh eggs readily available.

no problems, owner has to look after them just like they look after their pets look after them just like you do look after your pets never had a problem no smell no noise no rodents

Wonderful, they even lowered the tic problem.

Like everthing else in life, cleaning and maintenance is needed

If you take care of them and keep their living space clean they're just a few more family pets. No different than having to clean the litter box for your cat except you get eggs as the bonus. Our grand daughter loves chickens and it would be an another added bonus to come to our place • Please see above. This is a terrible idea and should not be allowed to happen.

Great experience. Chickens are mostly quiet, produce delicious eggs, and are easy to care for.

Anonymous 3/28/2020 03:42 PM

Anonymous 3/29/2020 08:50 PM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 05:47 AM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 07:58 AM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 06:07 PM

Anonymous 4/06/2020 04:07 PM

Anonymous 4/07/2020 05:29 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:32 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:34 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:56 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:51 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 01:02 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 02:39 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 04:15 PM They were respectful chicken owners, so no issues. I have never had them but would consider them.

Roosters are noisy but egg laying hens are great for families learning about sustainability. Eat more vegetables and the compost can be used to feed the hens. It's a win win. Teaches children valuable life skills and lessons. I've had 2 neighbors. I didn't report cause I didn't want to be that neighbor. BUT we could see rats running between our yards. With both we had to complain to them about the stink. Both would pile the manure in paper bags by mutual fence to use as fertilizer. I had coyotes in my yard. Never seen in 30 years of living here. One neighbors would escape often & come dig in my gardens. Both neighbours got rid of them after a couple of years cause of the work.

It's is not a hobby. It requires a lot of work and the downside is actually quality terrible

If you properly care and clean after, chickens can be very educational and useful.

Husband raised chickens as a child

I enjoyed having chickens They need a lot of space and protection Roosters are loud so bett er to keep them for big open spaces. Chickens are diggers so you need to have the property to allow for them to dig. No one will want them in their flower garden so they need a large property Not a small yard Well. Actually I had a 10 acre farm. I raised 99 laying hens. They are good pets and lots of fun and clean eggs with no hormones.

I had a chicken coop growing up with a small number of animals just as pets/for the eggs for our family. They were a great educational tool growing up and so long as they're being properly cared for, I dont see the harm. It was great having them in the neighbourhood! They roamed free. 2 points... free chickens do dig up other ppls yards so no go. IMPORTANT: steps need to be put in place to ensure humane conditions for the chickens. I saw chickens freezing to death due to an insufficiently heated coop. With a small number of chickens the cleanliness and odour are basically nonexistent. With only hens and no rooster noise levels are very low. No major concerns with minimal chicken coop configurations. Great experience if done properly. Maintaining a good environment for the birds and neighbours is key.

Found it interesting knowing what is involved.

great

Very little

Anonymous 4/08/2020 04:37 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 06:54 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 07:23 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 07:56 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 10:46 AM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 08:20 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 09:06 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 09:06 PM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 07:25 AM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 10:03 AM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 12:18 PM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 12:30 PM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 10:13 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 09:24 AN

Anonymous 4/12/2020 09:32 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:41 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:48 AM

Anonymous

attracted vermin

The chickens are all happy, the kids love them and the local eggs are great!

That are easy to care for and the eggs are delicious!

Completely fine

Great experience for the family, fresh eggs, minimal disruption to community, big effort to maintain but a worthy one positive

Were easy to care for, made good pets, control bugs and weeds in lawn and provide excellent fertilizer.

Great learning opportunity for the young children, provides wholesome organic free range eggs for the owner

Loud, there is a smell, attracts other vermin they were quiet and very friendly.

It's a fun and educational experience for the family. Healthy life style that also comes with responsibility and commitment that hold great benefits and rewards.

Wonderful way to get fresh eggs and keep lawns clean of bugs.

Excellent and a sustainable resource

No problems at all.

No different than raising a dog or cat

They love it! Teaches their children responsibility

Perfectly fine as long as quantities are manageable, they are well cared for and cleanliness is a priority

Easy, sustainable, clean, and practical. We should be less divorced from our

4/12/2020 12:47 PM eggs in a while from the store, and love their chickens and keeps good of them. That is important	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
4/12/2020 12:47 PM eggs in a while from the store, and love their chickens and keeps good of them. That is important	4/12/2020 12:17 PM	food chain.
Anonymous It was great no issue		They have numerous chickens and added turkeys. They have not bought eggs in a while from the store, and love their chickens and keeps good care of them. That is important
4/12/2020 01:09 PM	Anonymous 4/12/2020 01:09 PM	It was great no issue
AnonymousSmelly and loud. Attracted lots of mice4/12/2020 10:08 PM	2	Smelly and loud. Attracted lots of mice
AnonymousFresh eggs, good.4/12/2020 10:54 PM	5	Fresh eggs, good.
AnonymousJustice like having any other pet!4/12/2020 10:56 PM	5	Justice like having any other pet!
AnonymousChickens always escaping and causing damage to other people's yards4/14/2020 12:12 PMIncreased presence of predators within the neighborhood.	5	Chickens always escaping and causing damage to other people's yards. Increased presence of predators within the neighborhood.

Q12 Are there any other comments you wish to provide?

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:23 AM	I don't think people will understand the amount of work and also wildlife that you will be enticing to come into the neighbourhood also you can't complain about fox and coyotes being around if you have farm animals in your yard you take the good with the bad when people have ponds in there yard they also get raccoons looking for a meal same thing with chickens
Anonymous	I'm strongly against because of rodents and then coyotes permanently taking
3/09/2020 11:32 AM	up residence because it's an endless supply of feed. Urban farmers are generally clueless when it comes to livestock. I hope you don't permit this.
Anonymous	What happens to sick/old chickens? Do they go in the Green bin?
3/09/2020 11:33 AM
Anonymous	This would be a nightmare for neighbors and hard to monitor. We live with 3/09/2020 11:52 AM	coyotes all around us. Will bring then right into our yards and put our pets at risk. Very bad idea.
Anonymous	Could support as long as carefully controlled and Town provides educational
3/09/2020 11:55 AM	resources so that people go into it with their eyes open.
Anonymous	I'd be very worried about the attraction of rats to nearby properties and 3/09/2020 12:06 PM	residents who decide to have backyard chickens for fun, know nothing about it and end up creating a mess.
Anonymous	There must be adequate room in a yard for chickens. We do not want
3/09/2020 12:06 PM	unkept/unsanitary conditions for the chickens. Proper care must adhered too.
	Please think about the welfare of the chickens.
Anonymous	Not a good idea.
3/09/2020 12:35 PM
Anonymous 3/09/2020 12:38 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 12:41 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous

3/09/2020 01:04 PM

Anonymous

3/09/2020 01:09 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:32 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:32 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:33 PM

Jennifer 3/09/2020 01:35 PM

Anonymous

This survey should not affect rural areas in Halton Hills where chickens can currently be kept.

It's so wonderful to see the town listening to our community.

I support the idea in general, but there should be a minimum lot size to prevent small, dense, urban properties from having large chicken coops. Perhaps treating rural/urban with different regulations. Also by-law should be equipped to support neighbours who have frequent noise issues. I don't necessarily think chicken owners should require a license, but if someone calls about noisy neighbourhood chickens, the by-law officers should be able to act on this and either require a different size/location of the coop or removal altogether if the problem persists.

If people want to keep chickens they should choose to live on a rural property with a large lot. Others, neighbours, community members, etc. shouldn't have to put up with the chickens. If people cannot park on the street at night, then restricting chickens in town seems like a no brainer. The idea of raising your own chickens is a romantic notion and too many people enter into without doing their homework. Chickens require a great deal of care - daily as well as regular medical care. There are mites, parasites, respiratory diseases than can easily spread from bird to bird and hard to control once they take hold. Producing eggs depletes hens of important minerals and if not taken care of, can result in birds becoming eggbound, a life threatening condition. I fear people will enter into this venture unprepared and uneducated. What happens to the chickens when the owner no longer wants them? I volunteer at a farm sanctuary and see this all too often. This is a bad idea! If this goes ahead, a special permit with a sizeable license fee should be required, that needs to renewed annually, similar to fire permits and dog licenses, etc.

I think the rules should be made around personal use and not commercial use.

Brampton, Guelph, Vancouver, Montreal all allow chickens. If we are serious about sustainable living then chickens should be allowed. Also if yard size is an issue, then only rich people can afford chickens and poor people will not be able to with smaller yards. Yard size shouldn't be an issue if the birds are taken care of.

It sounds quaint - but the reality is that farm animals do not belong in suburban neighbourhoods.

A chicken is a cat is a dog is a pig. If someone were thinking about opening a dog milking farm, the outcry would be enormous. No to animal agriculture. It's environmentally irresponsible. COPVID19 originated from an unsanitary live animal market.

On questions 6 I tried to change my number one answer to no roosters because of the noise. Question number 6 would not let me do that.

I am thrilled the town is looking for feedback on this topic. Keeping chickens (responsibly) has been a dream of mine for years. I would welcome registration, monitoring and any/all learning resources the town felt appropriate. I'm very much looking forward to hearing the results of this survey. Thank you! Property should be of sufficient size and have sufficient yard space (not Anonymous 3/09/2020 01:59 PM occupied by the horse) before allowing chickens. Perhaps quarter acre. This would help ensure chickens are only kept where there is enough space for the chickens while leaving some buffer space for neighbours away from the chickens. Also the chickens must be contained is a fenced area and not allowed to wander onto roads or sidewalks. Anonymous I think it would be great to be able to have a couple of chickens in my back 3/09/2020 02:08 PM yard. But for the safety and welfare of the birds, I think education is needed for anyone that maybe considering this. What will happen to all these chickens come winter? How often will they be inspected. Will it draw more of the coyotes and foxes out of the ravines? Anonymous They should be allowed 3/09/2020 02:10 PM Keeping chickens in urban areas would need close monitoring. The town has Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:12 PM enough to do without adding this to their list. It would not be monitored correctly and situationswould get out of hand quickly. Chickens are farm animals not domestic pets. They do not belong in urban areas. Anonymous Should not even be a consideration in urban areas, welcome to 2020. This is 3/09/2020 02:14 PM not a valid issue regarding sustainability. Anonymous We back onto a wooded area with a waterway. Mice and rats are already an 3/09/2020 02:20 PM issue in our neighbourhood, we DO NOT need this added attraction for vermin. Many people in our neighbourhood are not even responsible enough to collect their dog feces from walkways and neighbours yards, I think allowing people to have backyard chicken coops would be terribly irresponsible unless there were VERY special circumstances and consistent monitoring, which seems unlikely to happen. If people choose to keep farm animals, they should also choose to live in a rural area. There is enough issues with household pets (Dogs/ Cats). Chickens and Anonymous other livestock should be left to rural properties outside the town limits. Minimum property size should be 1 acre. No roosters, manageable for the size of residence and neighborhood, Most Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:36 PM yards on Kingham road in Acton should not have any too small of yards. And no need for permits or law involvement. With the current economy Urban farming is becoming a necessity. For some Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:44 PM it may be the only way to put food on their table. If the animals are being cared for then all is good.

How do you think this would be any different?

there are alternatives that are easy and fun.

We can't even look after our domestic issues with dogs, cats, excetra let alone control who, what and where these coops, noise and, poo control would be done. We can't even afford staff to look after animal issues now.

This should be aloud to happen..... the egg industry is cruel especially when

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:46 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:51 PM Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:56 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 02:57 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:08 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:54 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 03:55 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:09 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:20 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 04:46 PM

Anonymous

Please do not allow chickens . Really bad idea .

Why is it that when we have a climate emergency the local governments think that they can restrict one of the best ways to cut down on greenhouse gas omissions. Locally grown food! Town council thinks it can be a solution to many problems. When In an actual since they are the problem. People should be allowed to do what they wish on their own property. Including feeding their families.

Dont do it There will be more complaints Reduced property prices What us next goats? Cows? Sheep?

If someone wants an agricultural lifestyle, there are areas already zoned to support it. No need to change existing residential zoning.

My entire outdoor season was ruined after my neighbours decided to grow very smelly pot plants because the government decided this would be a good idea. On a farm maybe, but not in close quarters. Same thing applies to farm animals. They belong on a farm where they can roam freely. In our neighbourhood they would be noisy, unsanitary and lure coyotes. No thank you!

Thank you for asking for our opinions.

There needs to be some sort of complaints process to allow the town to inspect and deal with people who have too many chickens or keep them in unsanitary conditions.

I love the idea that people can live a small farm life in their backyard and can decide for themselves if they'd want to do the extra work for fresh foods. It feels a lot like gardening to me.

Just concerned about noise - therefore no roosters ?!? Otherwise, this allows our community to become more sustainable.

#5 doesn't cover education on taking care of or feeding chickens. It also doesn't cover what to do with chickens once the laying stops. This can be difficult for someone who doesn't realize that it is a necessary part of owning chickens.

Want chickens, go buy a properly outside city limits

This is crazy, people who likes to have chickens should move to a farm

If you want chickens move to a farm. We all live too close to have farm animals and the bugs and smell and noise that comes with them.

Let's make this happen - give people the option to use their property for sustainable food!

Yes to backyard chickens!

3/09/2020 04:49 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:03 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:04 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:17 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:18 PM

Anonymous

3/09/2020 05:20 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:22 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:28 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:33 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:36 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:42 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:43 PM Chickens are wonderful pets, and if kept in clean areas are not dirty or smelly. They provide a great deal of fun for the family with the bonus of healthy eggs. A bonus for all. Without roosters they are actually quite quiet. The eat bugs and pests

Do not allow back yard chickens.

I do not think the neighbours should have a say in what you do with your property. If that was the case then I should be able to tell the dog breeders behind my house to stop breeding dogs as all I hear all day and night is barking. I can't even go in my back yard without getting barked at constantly. Chickens don't smell if kept clean. There should not be a rule as to where the coop is kept. Their soiled bedding should be able to be picked up on garbage day with no extra fee. Chickens are not noisy, roosters are. Chickens will cluck loudly while laying an egg which doesn't take more than a minute or so and then it's back to their normal business. The program in Guelph is wonderful and it saves a lot of money for a family on eggs as it costs much less a month to feed chickens as it does to buy multiple cartons of eggs a week.

If you want to do this move to a house with a larger lot away from close neighbours. And yes must be monitored for hen well-being and sanitary reasons

This would be a great thing for the community

Chickens smell a lot and would not be something I want to have in my neighborhood. Bigger neighborhoods that have acre lots might be more suitable.

This should be limited to land greater than an acre. I take real estate photos and can't tell you how many times I've photographed even a country property where neighbours chickens were always loose on the property. Glen lawson south of acton is a good example of this.

I think if you allow this to happen you're asking for a whole lot of trouble with neighbours . It's going to start a lot of drama . Chickens aren't clean enough to be in someones backyard . They are farm animals and that's where they belong

A neighbor had backyard chickens illegally for months. It took a long time for enforcement to come and remove them. They were loud, bothered neighbors dogs and werent contained in an enclosure. All our yards are connected and it was horrible.

No

Rural properties should be permitted. Chickens in urban areas should not.

Anonymous 3/09/2020 05:56 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:00 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:17 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:20 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:24 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:24 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:31 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:37 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:42 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 06:53 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:28 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:37 PM People don't know what they're getting into and often mismanage the situation. This leads to poor cleanliness, air quality, and dangerous conditions for the birds, wildlife, neighbors, and people driving by(often chickens escape poorly planned enclosures and wander into the road). A terrible idea! Do not allow this to happen. Chickens are farm animals.

I think if you are going to do this, people should have average and not within close proximity to neighbors

They are a nuisance, and had all the dogs barking through fences.

Thank you for initiating this!

If they have 50 acres understandable its not going to bug anyone if it is placed properly but in community areas it will be very disturbing and bring pests around because chickens are not the cleanest animals in the first place. Also it will bring down the community's value because noone wants to move beside a barn in a urbanized community there for making people loose money on the sale value of there homes. We need side walks!

I very much support allowing chicken coups in urban areas. I may even get one myself someday, as a retirement hobby. They are like any other pet in that as long as you care for them and keep them clean, then everyone is happy. It will add just that much more to an already very good quality of life in Georgetown.

This concept should only be considered for properties outside of conventional residential areas, on the fringes of town or very large lots only.

Any house that is legally not allowed a burn permit should NOT even be considered for chicken allowance. If it is deemed by the fire department that your backyard is a safety hazard to access then you should not be allowed a chicken. If the fire department can't access your yard in case of fire, the town by-law services won't have access to adequately do checks either.

There is no need to attract coyotes and foxes further into urban areas. Chickens are free ranging birds, who live happier and healthier lives when given adequate room to forage (ie. farmland). There are plenty of farms who already provide fresh organic eggs.

My Aunt raised chickens on her farm. The smell was awful. They constantly attracted wild animals that killed her cats and dogs. I could not stay for very long for a visit because of my allergies but I loved finding lose feathers and coloring them with chalk when I was a child. I am constantly finding dog poop in my front yard from people who won't pick up after the dogs that they love so I doubt they would keep a chicken coop clean. A chicken coop will be a constant source of viruses and bacteria, spreading easily to neighbors nearby. People can't even remember to wash their hands regularly, creating huge influenza rates. Also, the run off from the rain could be disasterous to a neighborhood pool, especially if it was "downstream". I would hate to barbeque my food or eat dinner on my deck if there was a chicken coop nearby. I really wish this law comes into effect. I would do anything to help this cause. Feel free to call me for any door to door or community help regarding this. 905 977 0081 Thanks. Ben Norman Urban farming should be encouraged not discourage small green houses should be in every back yard I appreciate you taking the time to ask the community about this. Number of chickens to be based on lot size Supplementing income from eggs/chickens for farmers will diminish greatly. Chickens need room to forage, they wont have that in an urban environment. Otherwise, they are just lazy birds Halton hills can't take care of current bylaws with animals why are we bring more into the mix Example barking dogs, dogs off leash, not picking of after dogs, loose cats. If done in a proper respectful manner it allows for access to fresh eggs and an educational opportunity for the grand kids. I would welcome public workshops to discuss and learn best practices Why even consider this? It will cause problems. The Town Bylaw enforcement is already very inefficient. Please reconsider. This will cause the Town so much money to police and to administrate- can't we spend money elsewhere? Great idea but need to have limits and regulations on this. You don't want rob have that one Neighbour with 30 chickens and roosters that can't maintain the animals and they become a nuisance to neighborhood Not a fan of this idea at all. I really would like to be able to have a few chickens in our backyard for my kids. Education and food, and prevent ticks in our yards. great idea!!!

If this becomes bylaw, it would be wise to restrict them to laying hens only.

As a kid I worked on a chicken farm. The smell can be just awful and with our hot summers I do not want to smell that again. If you want to raise chickens, moved to a farm.

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:37 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:41 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:43 PM

Juliepeden 3/09/2020 07:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 07:53 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 08:02 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 08:52 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 08:54 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:25 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:44 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 09:45 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 10:30 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 10:54 PM

Anonymous 3/09/2020 11:03 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:00 AN

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:31 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:32 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:44 AN

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:28 AM

Tandem2 3/10/2020 08:50 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:19 AM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:53 AM

Anonymous

3/10/2020 02:01 PM

No roosters. Enforce cleanliness (random bylaw officer visits). Offer course on how to care for chickens

This is not a good idea within town limits. How do you propose the animal waste is disposed of and control feeding animals like foxes, coyotes ect? how do you stop the business of selling eggs for profit? how do you propose the monitoring of the care of these animals. What happens when the neighbors object, will they have a say? I wasn't consulted when our neighbors decided to FARM and it cost the town to have them removed. Not a good idea-chickens are meant to be on farms

The potential for uneducated masses to do this is high. Which is why enforcement and education needs to be real (I'd pay for a license, if not a gouge). However, it's no different than when people buy animals/pets without understanding the commitment. Laws need to be clear and there should be some regulation to ensure animal welfare, cleanliness and fairness to neighbors. I'd gladly raise chickens if I had the opportunity.

The town is not equipped to deal with this. I have a neighbour that keeps pigeons and the enforcement had no idea of the rules. Was told they were following the rules. I had to educate them that the minimum allowances were not being adhered to. Also, we have seen a fox, coyote and rat running from/trying to get in that backyard.

Please roll out this initiative quicky. Can't wait!!! Please also think about procurement options of chicks and their disposal if required.

I have seen what happens in Hawaii when chickens get loose and roosters are everywhere and noise is unbelievable.

I am 100% against this idea.

This is such a bad idea. People don't need to Consume eggs and birds have been bred to produce so many eggs that it puts their lives at risk. Chickens should have a cycle like humans and produce only a Dozen or so eggs a year. It is so hard on their small bodies to produce an egg a day as they have been modified to do. This causes many complications and without proper care many will die.

Chickens are a source of many bacteria that we don't want contaminating our neighbourhoods and making our pets ill (dogs can get sick from air borne germs not just direct contact). They can be noisy (if roosters, WILL be horribly noisy) which will disrupt the neighbours enjoyment of their yards. People who don't know what they're doing will sell eggs that may be contaminated. There is also a concern of what happens once their egg-laying years are over (random people killing their chickens and selling the meat illegally? Or abandoned chickens left to wander around?). This may be a great idea for the more rural properties but certainly not in the middle of town - set a large minimum lot size to ensure there is a buffer for sanitation/noise. I can't imagine that there's enough demand for this that would outweigh the amount of complaints/issues that will arise!

Anonymous	I am just appalled by this consideration - Being forced to live near chickens or
3/10/2020 02:03 PM	any other farm animal in my neighborhood would pretty much seal the deal that we would move out of this community. I am appalled at consideration of this town where there is so much land outside of "in town" that people who wish to do this could. If I could have selected 8 for the importance questions for everyone I would. I will be the community member calling noise complaints or smell and filth every time there is an issue. I cannot see this being a good idea. I love fresh eggs - we have farmers that can supply them we do not need them in town.
Anonymous	I see no problem with keeping chickens in rural areas or acreages, but in 3/10/2020 02:04 PM	urban areas it could become a significant problem, especially with inexperienced owners.
Anonymous	This serves dose not address all the issues about backyard chickens.
3/10/2020 02:52 PM	Question #5 should be reworded and allow me to put my own values. Most of them would be 1 highest importance.
annewr	the town is dirty enough, people do not look after their properties. people do
3/10/2020 03:06 PM	not look after their dogs and cats already. children and others can get quite sick from unsanitary conditions. and this can spread to neighbors
Anonymous	I have dealt with enforcement and they are not properly trained and couldn't
3/10/2020 03:19 PM	handle endorsement of rules. Dirty, brings wildlife around.
Anonymous	I like the idea.
3/10/2020 03:21 PM
Anonymous	I have wanted to keep back yard chickens as we have many friends in rural 3/10/2020 03:22 PM	HHills and Wellington that have the ability to do so. Great for kids to learn sustainability and animal husbandry and a sustainable free range food source.
Anonymous	Please be progressive on this! It would be awesome!
3/10/2020 03:23 PM
Anonymous	I am NOT in support of this proposal. The south already has a significant rat
3/10/2020 03:24 PM	problem. The introduction of chickens and their feed will create a environment where the rat population grows out of control. Please do not move forward with this.
Anonymous	More headaches with enforcement. Great potential to pit one neighbour
3/10/2020 03:24 PM	against another. with so much littering, traffic issues, by law officer's time could be better spent.
Anonymous	Could there be an educational session from a farmer to teach us how to raise
3/10/2020 03:24 PM	chickens? I don't know anything about it but I'd be interested in trying with my kids to teach them.
Anonymous	There are enough issues already with mice, rats and racoons without
3/10/2020 03:26 PM	permitting chickens in our backyards, the food of which will assuredly attract even more wildlife issues.
Anonymous	Focus on on heritage, diverse breeds.
3/10/2020 03:27 PM

We have enough supply of fresh farm eggs from surrounding farms and the

Anonymous

3/10/2020 03:27 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:30 PM

o_JOHN_o 3/10/2020 03:30 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:42 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 03:52 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:11 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:20 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:30 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:32 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:47 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 04:57 PM farmers market.

Noise and smells from coop will be important for surrounding neighbours

Don't let this happen this is 3rd world living not first world we are not hapless peasants here looking to get some bird disease.

Urban residential areas should be reserved for people and domestic pets (i.e. dogs and cats subject to certain restrictions). If I wanted to live next door to chickens or any other livestock I would live in a rural setting as should anyone wanting to keep them.

If this happens in my neighborhood I will personally remove the chickens by whatever means necessary. I don't want to live on a farm.

I FEEL STRONGLY AGAINST THIS CHICKEN SHOULD BE ON A FARM OR ANYWHERE BUT AN URBAN CENTRE WE ALREADY HAVE ISSUES WITH RATS IN PARTS OF OUR COMMUNITY OF HALTON HILLS GEORGETOWN SOUTH IN PARTICULAR

I grew up on a farm with chickens so I understand what raising chicken involves.

I would be so disappointed in our Town if this was allowed in subdivisions and in the urban area. Chickens belong on farms not in subdivisions. We had a rat problem 2 years ago due to garbage not being disposed of properly on the strip mall behind my house. Rats are drawn to chicken waste, etc and I DO NOT want in my backyard or anywhere close to me. This is something that should not even be considered.

time required to keep chickens in check would take away from cash generating bi-law enforcement, like parked cars

Ducks should be considered also.

after getting a license there should be regular follow up which could be paid for by a special assessed fee

I live in an apartment building and already deal with enough smell, noisy and dirt from my neighbours. I'm not thrilled by this idea.

Hopefully owners should get some good baseline knowledge about chicken feeding, care, health, predators in urban areas(raccoons, possums, dogs, foxes). Smell in the summer would be a major irritant to the neighbours so that would need to be really regulated well. Chicken manure can be added to gardens or incorporated into good composers. keeping the number of chickens low reduce the possibility of people trying to run some kind of business out of their home in regard to eggs and chickens. I think people will be interested but I worry they will not properly care for their chickens or they would lose interest. It would be nice if we ensured a service existed where people could pay to have their chickens cared for. I know it exists for bees and it would be a good way for families who like the idea and the education for their children but know nothing about it and do not make the effort to learn about it properly. Another idea is that if a course or certification exists that the people have to have this certification before they are allowed to own the chickens....just so we know they have educated themselves.

Highly supportive of a multi-year pilot to see how it goes.

Please allow this! My family would love to have chickens.

Larger rural lots with the space and distant neighbors- no issue. Urban areas especially the newer subdivisions with little yard space, absolutely no

Find a local farmer to buy your eggs from - or move out to the country if you want to be a farmer.

Need to ensure no animal neglect or cruelty. There should be a mandatory course that new owners need to take on how to care for chickens (including identification and treatment of common illnesses). As well their permit should include serious penalties if there is cruelty/neglect.

Please don't create financial barriers like a ridiculous permit requirement. Don't even bother with this change if it is to become yet another revenue stream for the town.

N/A

Given that people keep multiple dogs, and multiple cats (that often wander about unrestrained), keeping chickens is a reasonable activity. This is an opportunity for the Town to show it's serious about sustainability. Cops and kind of coops are of upmost importance. You should look at only using mobile coops (chicken tractors) As with this system the coop is moved every couple of days so the nutrient load (poop) is used as a natural fertilizer in the yard and does not need be piled or composted. Which could lead to smells and rodent issues.

Where do the children play if there is a required large hen house as the humane society has rules for the sizes of the coops for the comfort of the chickens. in a small back yard that could be the whole backyard! With houses so close together these days the neighbours are sure to be involved. When the wind blows everyone smells the chicken poop unless it is cleaned every day.

I see no problems with this. If people want to keep chickens they should be allowed to as long as cleanliness and conditions are met.

Subdivisions are not for farming - no chickens please!

Good job Halton Hills! Love to see that this is in the plans.

aleger 3/10/2020 04:59 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:11 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:31 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:32 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:44 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 05:46 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:07 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:23 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:40 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:47 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 06:57 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:29 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:41 PM Anonymous 3/10/2020 07:55 PM

mattbg 3/10/2020 08:15 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:27 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 08:38 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:09 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 09:47 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 10:45 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 10:49 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 11:49 PM

Anonymous 3/10/2020 11:57 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:08 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 08:54 AN

Anonymous 3/11/2020 09:27 AM

LSH22 3/11/2020 10:16 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 10:34 AM Can't wait! Our kids will be so excited

I have lived in both the North and South of town. I like the idea of allowing backyard chickens, but some properties are too small and densely-packed to do this in a civilized way. I would consider the majority of Georgetown South to fall into that category, while many properties in the North have enough area to support this comfortably.

Differences are significant btwn keeping in rural vs urban setting. My answer TVo q7 is for an urban property

Chickens for eggs and fresh food should be allowed to subsidize Family food.

I don't think they should be allowed in the more urban areas - Georgetown, Acton. There is not enough room for them to live there.

None

Maybe on large areas that would not impact neighbours . But not feasible in many areas.

No backyard chickens

Too many rules and regulations getting in the way of peoples lives. You can have cannabis growing but not a few chickens. Pot does more harm then a few chickens.

I love this survey idea. Please provide more of these this should not be allowed.

Chickens should not be permitted in densely populated residential areas for all the reasons checked above. I hope the Town will not consider changing the current by-law.

Georgetown south has a huge rat problem. I do not luce but know of it. I support backyard chickins but what is the plan for the town to cueb the rat population which will only grow if we implement it? What do we do with the poop and dirty bedding?

Thank you for allowing broad input on this. I am a strong advocate for animal welfare, so my greatest concern is ensuring the welfare of the animals as well as humans. Before owning backyard chickens, some level of certified education on their needs and sociability needs to be understood and certified.

I see no problem with allowing this or at least performing a pilot program so the town can see what challenges it will have with any complaints and/or

Anonymous 3/11/2020 10:44 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:45 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:53 AM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 11:54 AN

Mark Poullos 3/11/2020 12:16 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:06 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:13 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:20 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 12:57 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 01:03 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 02:22 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 03:16 PM

Anonymous 3/11/2020 03:28 PM inspections and regulations.

There are two foreseeable issues both which can easily be taken care of free by law and by law enforcement First would be no roosters, I love roosters myself a beautiful little creatures however they are way too loud to have within the town limits on a farm no worries no problem at all Secondary would be cleanliness of the coop not just for the animals health and safety but to respect your neighbours 3 chickens in an appropriately sized Coupe would need a good makeout once a week and the smell would be to an absolute minimum however if someone did not follow appropriate cleaning standards chickens can get smelly so there would have to be specific wording about coop cleanliness and some way for the town to actually enforce the cleanliness portion through bylaws or some other meat Surveys like this attempt to 'direct' results. Making me choose from your options. I resent ranking from 1-8 when they should all be 1 in my estimation. In NO WAY do I approve livestock in urban areas period!!!

Fire Mr. chaisson and ms. Killbride

Roosters may be OK in rural areas only

LET THER BE BACKYARD CHICKENS

The number of chickens and size of pen should depend on size of yard. Pen should not take up more than a certain percentage of yard, and shouldn't be overcrowded Nahhh

If people live in a rural area where neighbours are far away, then as long as they apply for permits and are checked regularly by the city I can understand that. But in a residential area to have farm animals just creates so many issues it's just not worth it.

The cops / government shouldn't be able to take away chickens because of neighbours complaining unless animal abuse or chickens are let lose / set free in neighbourhood . You should be able to sell your chickens produce at markets and shops

We are very much interested in keeping Quails too.

Like the idea, but have been told already that I am not allowed

No sanitary and care

Anonymous People don't understand that keeping chickens means WORK; not just 3/11/2020 04:00 PM collecting eggs but cleaning and maintenance too. Chickens need a water source outside of the coop, water that won't freeze in the winter (no inside water or hay/straw bales because they can lead to fatal molds). If they have heat, it must be backed up (generator); a sudden drop in temperature (power failure) will kill them. Heat lamps easily ignite feathers and cause fires. Don't feed suet, many chickens are now dying from obesity. Rural only, not in subdivisions.

> If there is no rooster involved, you will need for the stability of the chickens mental health at least 4-5 hens. Roosters are frankly used to not breed hens but rather as a bonding partner since that is something most birds need if you wish to not have a hands on experience with your birds. Sexing birds as chicks is also rather difficult so you may be forcing people, while love their chickens the way they are, to give them up if they become roosters. Most roosters, also, are just as loud as a barking dog and frankly there have been no police calls or dogs being taken away for barking at like 3AM in my area so I see no reason why roosters would be prohibited. Also, the average townhouse backyard size fits the minimum space requirement for most chicken sizes, as they don't frequently need to be removed from their pen other than to look for fresh insects in grass. Finally, chickens can be harnessed trained and taught to wear bird diapers for those who are concerned about their chickens being in their house during colder seasons and just need to be changed regularly. Chickens are quite sanitary animals (more so than most dogs and cats) and just have this bias around them of being dirty due to being livestock. Which frankly just isn't true.

> I had technical problems with question #6. I was not able to see the full scale 1 to 8. There should be a limit to the number of chickens in the relation to the size of the vard.

This is just plain ridiculous. If you want chickens, move to the country. If you want certain kinds of eggs, support your local farmer.

Stupid idea. No need for chickens as they and their eggs are readily available. Irresponsible people keeping them virtually as pets is going to create a lot of problems, which is also unfair to the chickens. Absolutely NO roosters! Having lived on a farm with chickens and a rooster I can say that under no circumstances do roosters belong in an urban area!

It's a great idea for folks to have their own eggs and meat Would appreciate farmers more and meat would be organic

No.

I really think if you allow chickens there must be a minimum distance from a property line and they should only be permitted on a certain lot size . Their care needs to be monitored (i.e. waste management, health, corps removal, housing). Hens only should be allowed. They must be kept in a fenced off

Anonymous

3/11/2020 10:58 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous

Anonymous

Anonymous

Anonymous

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/12/2020 11:30 AM

Anonymous

Anonymous 3/12/2020 08:56 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 09:08 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 09:09 PM

Anonymous 3/12/2020 11:14 PM

Linda Herbert 3/13/2020 06:15 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 06:38 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 09:54 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 10:03 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 10:08 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 11:20 AM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 12:12 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 12:30 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 02:34 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 03:23 PM area for their protection and the protection of others. Personally, I am against the keeping of chickens in urban areas. I suggest you give permission to 10 or so people with poor to good resources and see how it all works after a 2 year trial run.

suggest mirroring other municipalities with urban centers policies and permits

About time people can be allowed to have backyard chicken. Not the government role to tell people what do do on their own properties.

You mentioned Chickens only-no rooster. Why? Is it because of noise/disturbance? If its noise from crowing, what about Dogs. 2 0r 3 dogs per household. Much barking at times and yes day and night sometimes. Dogs are more noisier than roosters. just saying Coyotes and foxes will be atracted to the chickens. Residents must be diligent and take necessary precautions....

It is ridiculous in a residential area to even consider this.

The leadership of Halton Hills to address sustainability and climate change should extend to allowing chickens in urban areas.

A return to some of the practices of the past should become part of a modern, sustainable lifestyle. Keep a vegetable garden. Raise chickens. Dry clothing on a line outside. Get to know your neighbours. Fewer rules, regulations and prohibitions.

People should be allowed to choose. Some would like to keep chickens, including me, and this should not be prohibited. I would not like to see cattle and sheep in an urban setting but chickens would be fine. And without the unecessary cost of regulations and inspections.

Worst possible idea ever: in an urban setting? Preposterous.

Not a fan of urban chickens. Outside of noise and nuisance factors they attract vermin.

This will turn into a 'fad' bylaw. Unless you plan on manpower to CLOSELY monitor this bylaw (if it passes), it will be difficult to control. Like all "pets" people don't understand the care required. (This coming from a farm background with multiple livestock). Maybe OK for anyone who owns an acre or more this shouldn't even be considered for land size less than that. Let people have chickens. Put on free courses on best methods for raising them, and for egg production. No need for much in the way of strict rules - just check up on any real complaints, defaulting to the right for people to have chickens for food production and self sufficiency. If you want to be a farmer, buy a farm.

Anonymous 3/13/2020 04:40 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 05:47 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 06:28 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 07:20 PM

Anonymous 3/13/2020 08:43 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 07:56 AM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 08:44 AM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 10:32 AM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 10:42 AM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 10:42 AM

Dan D 3/14/2020 12:15 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 01:54 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 02:59 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 03:16 PM

Page 50 of 61

Roosters may not be the best idea in a densely populated subdivision. Number of chickens should be commensurate with the size of backyard.

Meeting lot size per animal and sanitary restrictions is good governance

While chickens are an interesting debate I think the town should look at backyard fires. They pose a greater risk to our community in areas where the houses are so close together- neither Burlington or Oakville allow backyard fires and I don't understand how Halton hills can be so far behind in their thinking that this practice is remotely safe in densely packed suburban housing areas.

Please don't allow backyard chickens they are nuisance, nosy and makes good neighbours into bad neighbours.

People who want to have chickens should live in the country!! It should not be allowed in town!!

Please folks...with all the viruses from animals these days, is this really nessassary? I think not.

No to chickens period!!!

Urban living was designed to eliminate problems associated with farm animals.

Micro farming is happening all around us. Halton hills is missing the boat and restricting people from providing pesticide local produce.

Urban living is designed for human living conditions, not farm animals. Fresh eggs are readily available at various vendors and local farms.

It is probably a good thing to require permits for a back yard coop. (Maintenance agreement; "finite" guidelines) But the devil is in the details. -The cost of the permit could be made prohibitive? - Standards may be too stringent? (Could a permit be restricted because of minimum distances or lot size? Building standards? Permitting processes that are complex and costly will negate the initiative.) If the Town do not want backyard coops, then say so and don't allow. But don't make it prohibitive to build and operate. Going through the exercise, frustrating homeowners and then the Town says - well we tried. PLEASE MONITOR AND "REPORT ON" WHAT OTHER MUNICIPALITIES HAVE EXPERIENCED.

Why not give it a try, there will need to be rules and definitely care instruction that need to be met as there are for house hold pets.

Allowing backyard chickens is a really great move, the trick is to make it fool proof without it being a taxpayer money pit.

If Roosters are allowed, they will crow at 5am and neighbours will be upset...

Anonymous 3/14/2020 03:51 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 04:15 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 05:06 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 06:31 PM

Anonymous 3/14/2020 09:36 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 03:49 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 04:27 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 05:04 PM

Anonymous 3/15/2020 10:22 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 02:22 PM

Anonymous 3/16/2020 05:08 PM

Anonymous 3/17/2020 12:17 PM

Anonymous 3/17/2020 03:47 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 11:25 AM There needs to be a minimum lot size of 1 acre before anyone is given consideration for a permit. There needs to be 100 % approval from all adjoining property owners before approval. Some level of cleanliness written into the bylaw with enforcement that the coop is removed at home owners cost if not maintained properly.

Chickens need feed, feed attracts rats. People are dirty rats.

great idea. People should be monitored to make sure the animals are properly cared for.

Any questions/input please contact myself. Ray 905 864 2550 95 Poplar Ave, Acton NO NEED for a license/permit/etc should be required.

Please also consider that if people wish to raise their own chickens from eggs, then it would be necessary to allow roosters to a certain age (i.e. before they begin demonstrating mating behaviors - i.e. crowing). When considering the number of chickens allowed, limiting to 2 may seem appropriate, but is a potential animal welfare issue. 2 chickens roosting together will not be able to generate sufficient heat to be comfortable in a small coop throughout winter. 5-6 hens would be more appropriate, although depending on the breed and setup may still require supplemental heating. There are many benefits of having chickens, and not many bad things about them.

If you have chickens there will be rats in town!

This is the best idea I've heard for years! I hope it will be permitted and am very excited about it. Thumbs up for whoever gave this idea! Thanks a lot!

I personally would not have backyard chickens where I currently live, as my lot is much too small.

Can we implement the same guideline to growing marijuana within town. During growing season I can't even sit in my backyard without smelling the strong smell. At that point I would prefer chickens.

I think keeping back yard chickens is a good idea but there needs to be rules in place.

It should be public knowledge if someone has chickens. A permit should be posted in front of property.

We have enough raccoons and skunks in the Honeyfield development thanks to the wood. Have even heard the odd coyote at night. I will move if this is allowed. Chickens are farm animals not pets!

This doesn't have to be difficult. This doesn't have to monitored and controlled. People can be trusted to maintain proper coops and relationships with neighbours. I've been in touch with Guelph's SPCA to see how much of an impact their bylaw allowing backyard chickens has had on their system, and they couldn't even give me a number-- it's had no impact on them. IF such a case arose that required intervening, that could be handled on a case-specific basis...I also know other municipalities have hired whole sectors to monitor and enforce or contracted that out to their local SPCA, but that's complete over-kill. This does not need to be complicated. Thanks for taking the first step by even considering it and looking for feedback! :) This is a great way for people to make their own food.

My neighbours (and the whole community) never ask for permission from their neighbours to keep dogs even though they run in the backyard and bark, so I wonder why the noise of a rooster should be considered more of a disturbance when it crows. (I have great neighbours, by the way. I'm not complaining about their dog.) With situations such as the corona virus, I think it is important that people can be independent of the grocery-store food chain to whatever degree is possible. The town should also consider educational programmes about vegetable gardening in front and backyards too, not just a discussion about the possibility of chickens in the yard.

allowing people to have chickens in a backyard with homes so close to each other would be a big mistake. There is really no good reason to allow this. It would attract more trouble than benefit.

If People want chickens they can go live in rural areas We Don't want the noise or mess

Do your research and investigate chickens and various flus we have had Sars, Bird Flu, H5N1, H1N1 and spread to people

Its a beautiful experience... with times like these we should be more able to provide for ourselves.. this would be a wonderful step towards that... 8

Try it for at least a year and see how it goes. If no issues than people can apply for a permit to continue.

My son built the portable coop that is big enough for 6 hens. It is a classy looking structure. Alternatively, there are commercial coops available to buy.

If we were allowed to have backyard chickens, we would have them.

They still belong on a farm

Instructables.com urban farming website suggests 10-15 square feet per chicken. Our yard would allow only few chickens but that would provide more than enough eggs for us per week. I'm looking forward to hearing the results of this survey. Thank you Town of Halton Hills for considering the possibility of backyard chickens.

In question 5 about guidelines, the last question about permission from neighbors, a glitch would only allow me the #3 as a rating. This would not have been my choice. Permission from neighbors would be a 6 for me.

Anonymous

3/18/2020 02:00 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 03:27 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 07:11 PM

Anonymous 3/18/2020 07:21 PM

Anonymous 3/19/2020 07:28 AN

Anonymous 3/19/2020 05:15 PM

Anonymous 3/20/2020 06:32 AM

Anonymous 3/20/2020 09:24 AM

Anonymous 3/21/2020 01:33 PM

Anonymous 3/21/2020 09:15 PM

Anonymous 3/24/2020 09:08 PM

Anonymous 3/25/2020 09:32 AN

Anonymous	Thanks. I used to live on a farm and have raised chickens for many years. Chickens
3/25/2020 12:35 PM	are not pets. Chickens (both hens and roosters) can be violent towards people, other animals and other chickens. They are dirty, noisy and it takes a huge amount of effort, time and money to raise healthy birds. Just to clean their bedding you have to wear a mask or you will become ill. Most people can't even take care of a cat or dog and now these people think that they can raise chickens without proper knowledge. They think that they will save a few dollars on "organic" eggs. Do the math it will cost much more. These people who want chickens should just buy their eggs or chickens from the store or from the professionals FARMERS.
Anonymous	This is a great initiative and when we factor the risk of COVID-19 +
3/25/2020 12:54 PM	sustainability, it makes perfect sense. I don't agree with licensing as it may
5/25/2020 12.34 FIVI	discourage many from owning chickens and that defeats the purpose.
Adriantrangmar	Instead focus on education and maybe some benefits. It seems very draconian not to allow chickens in the first place. I think
Adriantrangmar
3/25/2020 02:16 PM	allowing chickens is an excellent idea especially during these difficult times.
	It would be nice to see this accelerated so we can enjoy having chickens
A	while we are all stuck at home!
Anonymous	Please don't allow this
3/26/2020 10:58 AM
Anonymous	N/a
3/26/2020 11:06 AM
Anonymous	The concern is that it will be a gateway to other farm animals, ie: goats, which
3/26/2020 11:26 AM	will require a whole new set of regulations and odour concerns.
Anonymous	No more avian flu
3/26/2020 11:32 AM
Anonymous	Not in my back yard
3/26/2020 11:42 AM
A
Anonymous	I would want health dept to provide guidelines/ regular inspections to ensure
3/26/2020 11:57 AM	that people with chickens follow proper procedures. Influenza is an illness that can mutate and jump from birds (particularly chickens) to humans (ie. avian flu). Don't want that in our community and have another epidemic/pandemic on our hands.
Anonymous	farming animals should not be allowed on small lots in suburbia. Virus and 3/26/2020 01:00 PM	disease can jump the species barrier if animals, and livestock are not properly cared for. People who wish to raise livestock should buy agricultural property. My neighbours already don't clean up or look after their domestic animals and there is no animal control to contact if they are free, destroying their neighbours property. Who will be there to contact if someone's chickens are loose or not cared for.
Anonymous	My family had a small chicken coup when we lived in Hornby on 1 acre. They and another have in that active but it is take much naise/mass/amall fax a

My family had a small chicken coup when we lived in Hornby on 1 acre. They are great to have in that setting but it is too much noise/mess/smell for a small backyard subdivision. I would not appreciate if my neighbors had

3/26/2020 01:14 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:28 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:40 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 01:54 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 02:25 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 03:30 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 03:56 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:14 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:27 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:48 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 04:59 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:10 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:49 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 05:59 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 09:49 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 10:05 PM

Anonymous 3/26/2020 10:27 PM chickens in their backyard.

Allowing our citizens to be able to feed them selves with healthy home grown food is important

They could add a significant cost savings to a family as well as providing educational enjoyment. This is very much allowed in the UK and I don't see why we couldn't implement this here. Cleanliness of their containment area would be the most critical. Wholly oppose. Do not pass this.

Everyone has the right to sustainable and affordable eggs on their own property

It should not be allowed, buy a farm if you want chickens, this will bring mice and disease to our neighbourhoods, this is a ridiculous idea

I think it would be an excellent educational experience for children to learn how to provide food, it's a healthy way for families to eat their own eggs, I own a kennel and give my dogs eggs all the time for their health.. I strongly think this would be beneficial for everyone.

I think its a good idea. As Long as some rules are followed.

I think this would be a wonderful thing for people to be able to have as part of their homes!

They poop a lot. If the chickens wander onto neighbours property there may be problems.

Leave animals alone.

Chickens should NOT be allowed to be raised in residential areas.

What happens to these chickens when they don't lay anymore? This is wrong in so many ways!!!

Be Vegan and stop the spread of infectious diseases that are caused by animal abuse

Thank you for asking. Friends in Gueloh enjoy their backyard chickens.

No roosters! Too loud!

I think this is an important option for people. Educational for families and sustainable during tough economic times. Fresh eggs trump anything purchased at the grocery store if you have ever had farm fresh. The fact that they would be contained within a coop shouldn't be an issue when cat

Anonymous 3/26/2020 11:17 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 12:24 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 05:44 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 07:44 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 07:56 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:10 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:26 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 08:44 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 09:41 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 10:00 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 10:19 AN

Anonymous 3/27/2020 11:32 AM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 02:58 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 04:39 PM

Anonymous 3/27/2020 05:37 PM

Page 55 of 61

owners allow their pets to roam neighbourhoods freely with little to no regard. I think chickens should be kept on rural areas and farming. It will attract rodents and other animals imposing danger on our children and pets.

Not only do I think this is a bad idea, I think it is also very bad timing for it. But perhaps that's the point of offering it now.

I had chickens before and my eggs were way better than any store bought chickens. No roosters, they are noisy. Easy to keep and are good pets. Thank you for considering it. We get mice already with no chickens so no difference.

With the high price of organic eggs and unnecessary and large amount of packaging that goes with buying eggs, allowing people to have their own chickens to lay eggs is great for the environment and for the people eating the eggs.

keep chickens out of residential subdivisions.

I would love to keep 4 or 5 hens. My children enjoyed looking after them and learned all about hens and chicks and where eggs come from. The hens all had personalities and would run to me for food in the morning. It was a great experience. Got to share eggs with my neighbour's and watch the hens antics during the day NO NO NO NO backyard chickens!

A neighbour a few doors down have them. We love going for walks to see them

This is a great idea to live more sustainably

the postal code area will not allow me to type my postal code so I choose the closest one mine is L7G0n6

no

This should be allowed based on yard size and that they have room and yard is fenced

No backyard chickens.

Enough exploiting animals, let them be, and stop breeding them for people's own self-centredness. We had a new neighbour move in who tried this, he had a rooster that crowed day and night, until the rest of the neighbourhood complained and reported him to the city. We say no to backyard chickens. We say no to animals being held against their will to be used. Please do not allow backyard chickens. It is cruel and harmful for the chickens, sanctuaries are full and this only creates more problems. Anonymous 3/28/2020 01:26 AM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 01:01 PM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 03:28 PM

Anonymous 3/28/2020 03:42 PM

Anonymous

3/29/2020 08:50 PM

Anonymous

3/29/2020 11:11 PM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 05:47 AM

Anonymous

3/30/2020 07:58 AN

Anonymous 3/30/2020 05:02 PM

Anonymous 3/30/2020 06:07 PM

Anonymous 3/31/2020 10:23 PM

Anonymous

Page 56 of 61

Chickens are dirty and will bring more rats and mice to Georgetown. We do not need more mice and rats please don't do this so such a great town like Georgetown.

We should do everything we can to make this happen as quickly as possible.

Will goats or sheep be next? Less noisy to keep the lawn cut

I think the main issue would be the density of housing/lot size. In a densely populated/small yard area of the town, it could be disruptive to neighbours. But Halton Hills has huge areas that are rural or bordering on rural (ie Glen Williams in outlying areas), so I cant see any reason why they wouldn't be able to have chickens. What applies to "in town" should be entirely different to people who have a half acre or more!! Thank you :-)

Government already had way too much control over people's lives. Interfering with their ability to reasonably grow their food, or produce their own energy, etc is not in the service of the community.

Opening up the prospect of keeping backyard chickens will undoubtedly cause tension between neighbours. I'm also very concerned about the risk of disease: "Zoonotic diseases that backyard poultry may spread to humans include salmonellosis, campylobacteriosis, and avian influenza viruses. Since the 1990s, numerous widespread outbreaks of human Salmonella spp infections linked to contact with backyard chickens have been documented in the United States. Some humans—including children younger than 5 years, humans with weakened immune systems, humans 65 years of age or older, and pregnant women are at higher risk for serious illness from poultry-borne zoonotic diseases". (Do Backyard Chickens Pose Any Health Risks to Humans? Article written by Casey Barton Behravesh, MS, DVM, DrPH, DACVPM, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Atlanta, Georgia) There is no economic savings. What they pay in feed & sweat, I.e. cleanup they could easily afford eggs.

This is a slippery slope. Once chickens then other types of fowl. After that , with the infrastructure built, all types of animals will be raised

My kids just want 3 chickens in the back for food and something to do and eating local

Amount of chickens should apply to lot size AND coup size to be sure the hens have enough space. I strongly agree that people living in Halton should be allowed to have chickens. There are many municipalities that have allowed this with little to no blow back and great success among residents. It is a great idea to push this forward. Please let us have backyard chickens

Fresh eggs are always nice

4/01/2020 05:02 PM

Anonymous

Cat V 4/05/2020 09:03 AM

Sheilajm 4/06/2020 09:03 PM

Anonymous 4/07/2020 05:29 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:16 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:18 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:32 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:34 AN

Anonymous 4/08/2020 11:56 AM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:17 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:19 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 12:39 PM

Anonymous

This is an update from previous submissions and comments. March 31, 2020 - We are staying at home and self-isolating from covid-19 as PM Trudeau and Premier Ford have told us to do. April 1, 2020 - PM Trudeau informs us that we will continue self-isolating until June 30th or into July 2020. In view of the fact we are all self-isolating because of COVID-19 WHICH COMES FROM AN ANIMAL, THIS TOPIC OF RAISING CHICKENS IN RESIDENTIAL AREAS SHOULD NOT EVEN BE CONSIDERED. Covid-19 is a ZOONOTIC DISEASE (THIS MEANS THAT THE GERMS/VIRUS SPREAD FROM ANIMALS TO HUMANS). Other zoonotic diseases include SARS, MERS, H1N1, bird flu, Zika, West Nile and Ebola. CHICKENS ARE BIRDS AND CAN SPREAD DISEASE. We do not need another disease to selfisolate from.

As per some of the questions above. Lot Size, Sanitation, and Number of Chickens important. Also, use of chickens for eating must be watched, as we don't need people killing their chickens and allowing them to bleed out on the ground. Back to sanitation.

Size of back yards is the most important issue and how close the neighbours are

I think small enclosed areas are good safe in small yards But if its small yard then respect your neighbour and take care of what is your responsibility. I didn't see my area Moffat on the list I would love chickens in my yard But would need to protect them as coyotes racoons are nightly visitors Allowing chickens is asking for trouble in the suburbs.

People would need to make sure they take care of them and there will be little to no issues

Again, so long as the residents who wish to have them are properly caring for their chickens and being respectful members of the community, I don't see the harm in allowing them.

The humane conditions for the chickens is a big topic that needs to be accounted for. Inspections for these animals is necessary Farm fresh eggs and urban farming should interest all who care about sustainability. In the current times sustainable food sources are vital in day to day life.

Not a good idea. It will create neighbour hood fights and a very difficult bi-law to enforce.

Bring on the fresh eggs

Cleanliness of prime importance.

Bylaw enforcement is critical.

4/08/2020 01:02 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 04:15 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 04:37 PM

Anonymous 4/08/2020 05:08 PM

Anonymous

4/08/2020 09:56 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 04:44 AM

Anonymous

4/09/2020 10:46 AM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 05:27 PM I think that this will just add to the potential issues that may arise between neighbours. Bi laws are generally weak and difficult to enforce and rely on one neighbour having to "tattle" on another which can lead to a difficult relationship. We live in closer quarters then ever and I believe that less activities should be permitted rather then more to keep the peace and enjoyment for all.

please don't allow backyard chickens since it attracts vermin. that should be allowed on farms only Chicken Farmers of Ontario has regulations in place to limit the number of chickens non-quota holders can have to 300 or less per calendar year. CFIA has a great little pamphlet about preventing disease in Backyard Flocks and Pet Birds (e.g Avian Influenza). OMAFRA will have some factsheets available about how to raise backyard flocks. Poultry Industry Council has many resources available about raising backyard flocks as well. All these organizations have good websites with this information available. People in Gtown already have chickens obviously they aren't supposed to if this is a survey to allow them.

question 5 doesn't allow for good answering.

I like this idea but not sure the town can monitor it properly. What do we do with waste? What is effect of chickens on local environment?

I'm a country girl born and raised. NEVER should there be chickens kept in a suburban residential area. Have you ever been to a chicken farm? Smelled it? The smell off an employees clothes will destroy the inside of the family vehicle they use to commute to work in. Their feces is highly unsanitary. There is nowhere in town to safely dispose of it. It can't just wash down the sidewalk grates. People with severe allergies to birds and feathers will not be able to use their backyards, front yards, or community sidewalks, for fear of suddenly loosing their ability to breathe. Feathers of upset chickens fly in large quantities - far and wide & well beyond their yard or their neighbours yards. Coyote and loose dogs will hunt them. WILL. More feathers will fly. Even more feathers will fly if they catch the chicken... A chicken farm is a calmer and therefore less feathered place than a backyard... and they aren't featherless themselves. Unsanitary salmonella spreaders. The stench the stench the stench. And the noise. Have you ever been under a bridge where birds roost at night? Under the Gardiner? Under the Ambassador Bridge? Have you ever lived downwind from them? What are neighbourhood residents supposed to do when feathers and feces and stench of bird poop start taking over their yards? They will. At a distance and rate greater than leaves off a tree. Even if it is just one chicken... the stale smell of bird poop will soak into neighbours bricks. Enter through their heating and cooling systems into their houses. And saturate everything within. Neighbours could never open their windows for fresh air. Stench and feathers permeate. Pigs are cleaner and smell better. And their poop is easier and more likely to be picked up. But, I don't think they should be kept in the suburbs either. Anonymous In rural areas only with large lots and under town regulations. sustainability People who wish to have farm animals should move to a farm outside of town. Anonymous Pleas do not allow chickens in backyards within communities. Rural areas are different

Yes. Many more people should be raising chickens as we all get back to a more basic and simple lifestyle. Also just because a neighbour doesn't like the idea of another neighbour having chickens should not be a reason. Other people don't like having a dog who barks all the time next door or a cat that constantly wanders through their yard etc.

This is a terrible idea. Chickens need room to roam not in residential subdivision back vard.

People cannot clean up after their dogs, have you seem the dog poop along the trails and boulevards? Chickens are for farms, not Georgetown neighborhoods. This is not going to make good neighbours. And will decrease property values. Our backyards are not big enough. Do not allow backyard chickens in Georgetown!!

Keeping poultry is fun as chickens and or ducks make great pets and all have individual personalities that are entertaining and enjoyable.

Make this happen!

No

It's good for those that have the space where it doesn't bother neighbours. Most importantly there needs to be high standards on cleanliness and sanitary conditions of the coops.

Could lower property values. Noise concerns. Health concerns especially in light of Covid 19. Next it will be sheep and cows. Let's keep food animals on farms.

Let's keep our yards nice. There are people that don't take care of their yards now can't imagine them with chickens! Noise, smell unsanitary! Lower property values. No

Maybe make it seasonal. Only summer time chickens.

4/09/2020 07:24 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 08:20 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 08:48 PM

4/09/2020 08:58 PM

Anonymous 4/09/2020 09:06 PM

Anonymous

Anonymous 4/09/2020 10:42 PM

Anonymous 4/10/2020 07:25 AM

Anonymous

Anonymous

Anonymous 4/10/2020 10:13 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 08:54 AM

Anonymous

Anonymous 4/12/2020 09:23 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:41 AM

Anonymous

4/12/2020 11:16 AM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:08 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:11 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:27 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:27 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:35 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 12:47 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 08:49 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:08 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:54 PM

Anonymous 4/12/2020 10:56 PM

Anonymous 4/13/2020 08:26 AM Store current supply a great supply of safe and properly price food, why would we need to do this?

Georgetown already has a problem controlling rats, mice and coyotes. Why would we amplify that problem? Does the Town really have the resources to monitor associated bylaws? As a resident and parent, I can think of many competing bylaws and activities that should be prioritized. Grocery stores and local farms now offer lots of free range and organic egg options. Town has not been able to effectively influence reduced aircraft noise; why add to noise? I think this consideration is outrageous. Please, no! Lots are too small, houses too close together, and sanitary concerns are too great to even consider allowing this.

Would hate to see this become the norm in Georgetown!

This is very concerning. Some residents cant even manage to cut their lawns or clean up their dog waste. These could be the same people to manage chickens in a sanitary fashion. I think not.

I would like to think that if you are keeping chickens, every care is take , and strict rules should apply.

This is absurd. Absolutely in no circumstances should this be allowed.

Please don't allow chickens in residential areas. Chickens aren't meant for farms

Chickens improve sustainability.

Everything done in moderation, considering neighbours, well cared for flock should be permitted

I don't think that people living in an urban setting should be allowed to keep chickens on their property. I think that the novelty of owning chickens will wear off and then the people will be stuck with those chickens they Don't want anymore and who's to say that ones they don't want them they aren't just going to let them go. We will run in to bigger problems if people start doing that with chickens getting hit by car, cats who are let out now have an opportunity to get a chicken and also dogs who are out on walks it's not fair to them. I think it should be a law for anyone who wants to keep chicken if this goes though that the chickens have to wear a band with a number that is associated with the owner of the chickens so if any are found out of their property they are fined. You need to clean chickens runs and pens out to keep the smell down and the cleanliness up and there is everyone going to start putting the shaving when they start cleaning up the pans. In the summer time the chickens need to stay cool as they can over heat and it becomes a healthy problem, Then the opposite can be said in the winter they can freeze in the snow and speaking from experience chickens will not go out of the shelter in the winter. What are people going to do to put effort in to make sure the chickens are ok in all of Ontario's crazy seasons are people going to go out in 2 feet of snow to water and feed the chickens In minus -20 weather.

Lot size and proximity to others needs to be a big consideration.... like if someone wants 3 chickens in their backyard in the south-NO! If you live in rural 8th line north, then go ahead

I think it could be a good idea with lots of guidance from the town on setting up and keeping chickens.

I think there should be laws that protect the chickens well being and standard of care. Also laws that the owners can be charged for damage that the chickens cause if getting loose from their yard.

Anonymous

4/13/2020 08:32 AM

Anonymous 4/13/2020 09:44 PM

Anonymous 4/14/2020 12:12 PM