SCHEDULE “B” TO BY-LAW NO. 2024-0106

REASONS FOR DESIGNATION

Description of Property

The subject property is a rectangular-shaped lot, located along the southeast side of Albert Street. The subject property contains a two-storey residential building in the Edwardian Classicism architecture style. The property is legally known as “LT 69 SAS, PL 37; HALTON HILLS”.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

The Johnston-Snyder House at 16 Albert Street has physical and design value as a representative example of an early-twentieth century residential building in the Edwardian Classicism architecture style in the community of Georgetown. The two-storey building features a gable roof, smooth brick façade, a tall brick chimney, an American Four-Square layout, and numerous flatheaded window openings with flat arches. The front porch includes semi-white painted wood half columns with brick bases, and a dormer along the side (southwest) elevation.

The Johnston-Snyder House at 16 Albert Street has historical and associative value due to its associations with the Johnston and Snyder family. The Johnston family was actively involved in the community of Georgetown and were members of St. John’s Anglican Church. Both Mary and Cora participated in various Church organizations and volunteered for the Red Cross during WWII. Norman Snyder, Cora’s husband, was a locally known business owner, who worked as a carter manager before starting his own transport business, which was located along Mill Street in Georgetown. Norman continued to operate his business until selling it in 1954 and continued to work until his retirement in the 1960s. The property also has associations with the development of Albert Street following the construction of the Grand Trunk Railway Station.

The Johnston-Snyder House at 16 Albert Street has contextual value as it is important in defining and maintaining the late-nineteenth and early twentieth-century character of Albert Street, surrounding the former Grand Trunk Railway Station in Georgetown. The property remains visually and historically linked to its surroundings as a residential building along Albert Street.
